Rhodes To Attend Groundbreaking At O-I Plant Site

Gov. James A. Rhodes will head a delegation of visiting dignitaries here Tuesday for a groundbreaking ceremony marking construction of the new Owens-Illinois corrugated shipping box plant in Pickaway Twp.

The groundbreaking observance has been set for 11:30 a. m. Sharing the distinguished guest spotlight with Gov. Rhodes will be J. P. Levis, chairman of the board of directors of Owens-Illinois, and other officials of the firm.

Local aspects of the community's official "welcome to Owens-Illinois" are being handled by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Gov. Rhodes is due to arrive here by helicopter. It will mark his second industrial groundbreaking ceremony for the day. He has already been scheduled for a similar observance in Washington C.H. where work will start on a new Kenskill Trailer Corp. facility.

The general public has been invited to the Owens-Illinois groundbreaking. The new plant, enclosing 186,000 square feet, will be built on a 40-acre site just north of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. installation.

A luncheon session has been slated for about 12:30 p. m. for approximately 100 dignitaries and special guests at the Pickaway Arms on E. Mound St. This list is expected to fill the eating establishment to capacity.

Additional dignitaries and representatives will be present from Colomet, Inc., the subsidiary of Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. that sold the industrial use land to Owens-Illinois; the Norfolk & Western Railway, also a property owner in the land transaction; Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc.; the E. J. Benes Co. of Cleveland that has been awarded the general construction contract and local delegates.

Also on hand for the groundbreaking will be the Logan Elm High School Band whose members will serve as an appropriate delegation from the school district where the plant is to be built.

Once-Captured Navy Pilot Is Back in States Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Navy Lt. Charles F. Klusmann, the jet pilot shot down over Laos and captured by Communists nearly three months ago, is home again with his wife and two children today.

But the story of his escape to Thailand and safety is yet to be told, when the Navy so decrees. Klusmann, 30, was limping slightly and one arm was bandaged when he arrived at North Island Naval Air Station late Wednesday night. Those waiting to greet him included Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, commander in chief, Pacific Fleet, who had defied him before the lieutenant's plane went down in Laos Jun 6.

"Admiral, I owe you a big apology," Klusmann told Moorer.

Trucker's Helper Turns into Bandit

CHICAGO (AP) — "It was just like he changed from Dr. Jekyll to Mr. Hyde," said bakery truck driver Clarence Olson.

Olson, 58, was unloading his truck in a South Side alley when a man asked if he could help. The stranger helped unload 30 cases of crackers.

Then he stuck a revolver in Olson's side, made him give up $150 in receipts, and fled.

"That's all right, Chuck," said the admiral. "It's good to have you back."

The pilot and his comely, auburn-haired wife, Sara, arrived at 11:20 p.m. from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., where she had gone to meet him earlier in the evening after his flight from Honolulu.

Both wore leis as they came down the plane's ramp at San Diego. Klusmann was attired in khaki cotton trousers, a short-sleeved shirt and slipper. His wife clung firmly to his arm.

Navy officials said that he would be checked up immediately at a San Diego naval hospital for injuries he received when he was shot down.

Klusmann embraced his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Klusmann, of Arcadia, Calif., and placed a lei around his mother's neck.

Asked by newsmen if he had any help in escaping or met any other Americans in prison, Klusmann replied: "I can't say anything about that."

His escape to Thailand was made known Tuesday. Briefing officers said they hoped to determine later today when he will be permitted to grant interviews.

"It's great to be back," was his only comment when he reached Travis at 8:45 p.m. The Navy had said beforehand that there would be no interviews there either.

The Klusmann children — Diana, 3, and Richard, 6 — did not go to Travis with their mother because Richard has the flu. Neither did they go to North Island.

But Mrs. Klusmann delivered Richard's message at Travis: "Tell daddy to hurry home. And, oh yeah, tell him I said hello."

Khanh Returns To Top Post In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh again assumed full command of South Viet Nam's shaky government today. The premier said he had won support of Buddhist leaders who were threatening to renew antigovernment violence unless their demands were met.

Khanh's return to power after a five-day "temporary retirement" at the mountain resort of Dalat was disclosed by a government spokesman following a six-hour emergency Cabinet session. Khanh flew to Saigon from Dalat mid-reports that he was demanding full support from all members of the caretaker government that had been led by acting Premier Nguyen Xuan Oanh.

"The military has promised Gen. Khanh their complete support. The situation looks much more stabilized today," the spokesman said.

Khanh, 37, was expected to retain members of the powerful Dai Viet party in the government and the armed forces. Before Khanh went to Dalat last week, following violent antigovernment demonstrations, he charged that members of the party had plotted against his government. He conferred today with Nguyen Ton Hoan, leader of the party who resigned Wednesday as vice premier after charging Khanh's government had no legal standing.

"Gen. Khanh plans no reprisals against them," the spokesman said.

Khanh also won an agreement from Buddhist leaders to call off a planned hunger strike, and a possible general strike, the government said. The agreement presumably entails concessions, but these were not spelled out. The spokesman said the Buddhists fully supported his resumption of duties.

2 Holdout Japs Sighted In Jungle

AGANA, Guam (AP) — At least two Japanese soldiers from World War II are still hiding out in the jungle 20 years after Guam's recapture by American forces, Guam police and U.S. military officials said today.

A construction worker reported last week that one of them held a rifle on him and pulled the trigger, but nothing happened.

Guam Police Capt. Jose C. Quintanilla said he believed the two holdouts, bearded and bedraggled, are holed up somewhere in the northeastern Guam jungle, in the same area where the Japanese imperial army made its last stand during World War II.

Equipment operator Jose George, 27, reported on Aug. 26 that he sighted the two stragglers a half-mile from the U.S. naval communication station housing.

George said he first spotted one of them squatting inside a dump. The man, George said, had long hair, a beard nearly to his waist, and was skinny and nearly naked.

George said the man ran away, limping on one foot. He said he went after the man but when he got within 15 feet he saw another Japanese who leveled a rifle at him.

Tourists at Pier Handed Frozen Fish

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP) — Tourists who stop at Pier 2 in this commercial fishing center may end up with frozen tuna in their hands.

Longshoremen and truck drivers view any visitor who stops to watch the transfer of frozen fish from ships to trucks as a potential friend of the fishing industry.

If the visitor is carrying a camera, he is invited to have his picture taken with a fancy fish. Workers at the pier say no one yet has turned down the suggestion.

Goldwater Pledges To End Draft, Keep Peace, Cut Federal Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Barry Goldwater formally opened his bid for the White House today in Prescott, Ariz., believing that he is running well behind President Johnson but convinced a groundswell is stirring that could carry him to victory by Nov. 3.

The White House announced Wednesday that President Johnson would begin his campaign with a Labor Day speech Monday in Detroit's Cadillac Square where Democrats have traditionally started election drives. Getting under way in Prescott is something of a tradition for Goldwater. It's where he made his political debut a dozen years ago when he first ran for the Senate, and where he began his successful re-election campaign in 1958.

In his prepared remarks, Goldwater promised to end the draft, keep the peace and halt

"the cancerous growth of the federal government. . ."

"Republicans will end the draft altogether, and as soon as possible," Goldwater declared. "That I promise you."

He accused Johnson of using the Selective Service System "for political and social schemes. . ." — a reference, his press secretary said, to Johnson's program to retrain men rejected in pre-induction physicals.

Johnson asked Congress on Aug. 14 for $16.7 million to help rehabilitate young men who are rejected by the draft on mental or physical grounds.

The president announced last April a study of the draft system, and said that inquiry would consider the possibility of ending Selective Service within a decade.

As Goldwater sped by jetliner to Arizona from Washington, where he voted Wednesday against Johnson's program to put medical care for the aged under Social Security, it was learned that he:

—is not surprised by a sizable Johnson margin reported by his own public opinion pollsters.

—believes that a groundswell of concern, not measured by the polls, is stirring among voters and foretells a change in the nation's sentiment.

The Arizona senator believes that even those Republicans — such as New York's Sen. Kenneth B. Keating — who don't care for his candidacy will rally behind him once the intensity of Democratic attacks starts to mount.

Goldwater conferred with Keating Wednesday about the New Yorker's battle for re-election.

tion against Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Kennedy, fresh from capturing organized labor's endorsement in the senatorial contest, was to resign from President Johnson's Cabinet today.

Meanwhile, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, said he would launch his campaign with weekend appearances in his home state of Minnesota.

Humphrey said he plans to spend September on a swing from the Rocky Mountain states to New England with special emphasis on the Midwest and South.

Rep. William E. Miller, Goldwater's running mate, accompanied the Arizona to Prescott. Then both head for Lockport, N. Y., where Miller formally opens his campaign on Saturday.

2 Shotgunners Named in Trial

Slayers of Negro Educator Fingered

DANIELSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Two white men have been named in a statement as the killers of Negro educator Lemuel Penn. The statement was read in court over vigorous objections of their attorney.

The FBI said the statement, read Wednesday at the trial of Joseph Howard Sims and Cecil William Myers, was signed by James S. Lackey, one of four men charged in the slaying.

Penn, of Washington, D.C., was shot to death early July 11 as he drove through North Georgia with two companions.

Although Lackey has repudiated the statement, it was admitted as evidence by Superior Court Judge Cary Skelton after an hours-long legal battle between defense attorney James Hudson and a special prosecutor, Jeff Wayne.

As Wayne read the statement, the courtroom became deathly silent. The jury of white men listened impassively.

At one point, Wayne quoted: "Both Sims and Myers fired shotguns into the Negroes' car."

Myers' wife, expecting a fourth child at any time, burst into tears. She and Sims' mother sobbed. Several other women seated nearby began to cry.

Lackey, who faces trial later, was quoted as saying he "had no idea they would really shoot the Negro and was very surprised when two shots were fired."

Clete Johnson, the state prosecutor, was asked later by a reporter if the statement would serve to reduce the charge of murder against Lackey. He said, "No, he's subject to the same penalty as the others."

In a surprise move, state attorneys dropped charges against the fourth defendant — Herbert Guest — and called him to the stand as a prosecution witness. Guest insisted he could not remember giving a statement to the FBI about the slaying.

Guest still faces a federal conspiracy charge under the civil rights law.

Policemen Enter Pleas of Innocent

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two Cleveland patrolmen have pleaded innocent to four departmental charges against them in connection with a motorist's accusation that they solicited and accepted a bribe.

Patrolmen Wayne Airey and Stanley Olbrys appeared Wednesday before Safety Director John N. McCormick. They were charged with breaking a rule that prohibits police from accepting money, gross neglect of duty, failing to observe proper police procedures and conducting unbecoming officers.

Orlisse C. Pryor Jr., 19, of Cleveland accused the patrolmen of soliciting $25 and accepting $10 to overlook a defective headlamp on his car. The patrolmen also face criminal charges of bribery. McCormick continued their case pending results of the criminal charges.

President Leads Tributes To Hero of World War I

PALL MALL, Tenn. (AP) — Sgt. Alvin C. York, who rode out to war 47 years ago in a horse-drawn sledge, has returned to his beloved green valley of the Three Forks of the Wolf. President Johnson led tributes — from across the nation.

The doughboy hero of World War I died Wednesday in Nashville's Veterans Hospital at the age of 76, succumbing to a urinary tract infection.

The funeral, to which President Johnson and other leaders will send representatives or attend, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at York's Chapel here on the banks of the Wolf River in the Cumberland Mountains.

The Army will be represented by Maj. Gen. Robert H. York (no kin), commanding general of the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C.; and Sgt. Maj.

Chester D. Kendrick of the 82nd, the White House said.

The 82nd was York's World War I outfit.

Ridgway, a former commander of NATO, was the first wartime commander of the 82nd Airborne in World War II.

The President expressed his sorrow Wednesday, saying the Medal of Honor winner "epitomized the gallantry of American fighting men and their sacrifices in behalf of freedom."

Gen. Harold J. Johnson, chief of staff of the 3rd Army, released this statement: "In recognition of the special place that Sgt. York holds in the hearts of his Army comrades, past and present, the Army is furnishing an escort, band, firing party and bugler from his old outfit—the 82nd 'All-American' Division — to participate in the funeral service."

A choir will sing three of the York's favorite songs, "Faithful Lord Jesus," "Faith of Our Fathers," and "Onward Christian Soldiers." His strong religious convictions became part of the York legend. Once a conscientious objector, he went on to answer his country's call to World War I and killed 25 Germans and captured 132 more virtually single handed in the battle of Argonne Forest.

Not far from the Wolf River from the chapel where the funeral will be held is the big white farm house in which York lived for the past 42 years. He built the house in 1922 with money raised by his grateful, fellow Tennesseans.

York had been bedfast and virtually blind for 10 years, and had been in the hospital 10 times in the past two years before the final stay which began last Saturday. His family and his doctors agreed that the complications that he had battled for a decade would have killed a lesser man long ago.

U.S. Steps Up Aid to India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States is stepping up its shipments of wheat to its hungry nation as heavy monsoon rains multiply the misery by flooding vast areas of valuable cropland.

Indian officials announced Wednesday 80 U.S. ships are being used to rush shipments of surplus American wheat.

They are to bring four million tons between now and February — twice the amount that had been scheduled.

Heavy monsoon rains have hit northern India causing the worst floods in decades. Authorities estimate that five million acres of vital crops are now under water. About 500,000 persons have been flooded from their homes.

Kids in Plane Plop Close to Parents

The plane fell into the Ohio River—just after, police said, it had swooped so low that the occupants might wave to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bernert, in a motorboat cruising nearby.

Village patrolman Sawyer Burns said they attempted the maneuver a second time but as they did, the engine failed and the plane made a forced landing in the water. Neither occupant was hurt.

He Buys Lot In Middle of Expressway

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Louis Stile discovered Wednesday he picked up a real bargain for $99 at that sheriff's sale: A 40 by 120 foot lot smack in the middle of a central interchange on the Akron Expressway.

A City Law Department official conceded that Stile, a builder, did own the property and conceivably could put up a toll gate on the expressway if he wanted to.

Stile bought the lot, sight unseen, at a sheriff's sale of property on which taxes were delinquent.

Diving into city records, officials discovered that the former owners had sold the land to the city of $1,330 nearly ten years ago when property was being acquired for the expressway. However, the sale never was finalized. Everyone forgot about the matter, including the owners, who stopped paying taxes on the land they thought had been turned over to the city.

Stile has no plans for his freeway property. He says he'll be glad to get rid of it if the city will give him back his $99.

It was the second such case in this area this year. A few months ago a Barborton man bought some bargain property at a sheriff's sale and discovered a public school building sitting on his lot.

Negro Voters Told Shun Negro

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Negro leader is urging members of his race to vote for a white moderate in a three-man race for the seat of Fulton Superior Court Judge Durwood T. Pye.

A. T. Walden, judge of the Atlanta Traffic Court, said in effect, in a letter to Negro voters, that a vote for Negro attorney Donald Hollowell would be wasted and merely help to elect Pye, who has been criticized for handing out stiff sentences to defendants in civil rights cases.

Negroes are urged by Walden to vote for white candidate Paul Webb Jr.

New Social Security Bill Is Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today defeated, 64-23, a proposal of Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., to raise the minimum monthly Social Security retirement payment from the present $40 to $70.

Prouty offered this as a substitute for the health-care program and the $7-per-month cash benefit increase adopted by the Senate Wednesday in an administration package proposal.

The Prouty amendment was the first to be considered as Senate Democratic leaders drove for passage today of a Social Security bill.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, obtained an agreement to limit debate on all remaining amendments.

Prouty said that, in any event, he thought there was little chance the House would accept the health plan when the pending bill is returned to that branch.

And House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck told a news conference the same thing. Halleck was asked about the prospects of a Senate-House conference committee working out some modification of the Senate bill. He said he foresees no compromise that would prove acceptable.

The minimum $70 benefit proposed by Prouty compares with $42 in the bill as it passed the House or $47 in the Gore-Anderson amendment written in to the legislation Wednesday.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., won quick adoption today of an amendment slightly modifying the Social Security health-care plan adopted by the Senate Wednesday in the Gore-Anderson amendment.

Under the plan, the government could work through established health organizations such as Blue Cross in paying for services for beneficiaries. The amendment makes it clear that industrial health plans such as that of Kaiser Industries also could be used.

Mansfield said the measure might be passed and sent back to the House late today. If not, he said, final action will come (Continued on Page Two)

RFK Resigns Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy, off at last on an elective political career of his own, turned in his resignation as attorney general today.

Kennedy, who already has begun his campaign for the Senate in New York, met with President Johnson to make official his departure from the Cabinet post his assassinated brother gave him in 1961.

Kennedy 38, thus becomes the fourth member of the original New Frontier Cabinet to step out, and the first to leave since Johnson succeeded John F. Kennedy.

Preceding him were Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, now a Supreme Court justice; Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff, now a senator from Connecticut; and Postmaster General J. Edward Day, who quit to return to private life.

Khrushchev Approves Of Parley in Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has agreed to come to Bonn for political talks with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, the government press office announced today.

The announcement said Khrushchev made known his readiness for the visit in a statement delivered by Soviet Ambassador Andre Smirnov to the chancellor's office.

The press office said the time of the visit and the program will be worked out later through diplomatic channels.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today defeated, 64-23, a proposal of Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., to raise the minimum monthly Social Security retirement payment from the present $40 to $70.

Prouty offered this as a substitute for the health-care program and the $7-per-month cash benefit increase adopted by the Senate Wednesday in an administration package proposal.

The Prouty amendment was the first to be considered as Senate Democratic leaders drove for passage today of a Social Security bill.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, obtained an agreement to limit debate on all remaining amendments.

Prouty said that, in any event, he thought there was little chance the House would accept the health plan when the pending bill is returned to that branch.

And House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck told a news conference the same thing. Halleck was asked about the prospects of a Senate-House conference committee working out some modification of the Senate bill. He said he foresees no compromise that would prove acceptable.

The minimum $70 benefit proposed by Prouty compares with $42 in the bill as it passed the House or $47 in the Gore-Anderson amendment written in to the legislation Wednesday.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., won quick adoption today of an amendment slightly modifying the Social Security health-care plan adopted by the Senate Wednesday in the Gore-Anderson amendment.

Under the plan, the government could work through established health organizations such as Blue Cross in paying for services for beneficiaries. The amendment makes it clear that industrial health plans such as that of Kaiser Industries also could be used.

Mansfield said the measure might be passed and sent back to the House late today. If not, he said, final action will come (Continued on Page Two)

Slayers of Negro Educator Fingers

DANIELSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Two white men have been named in a statement as the killers of Negro educator Lemuel Penn. The statement was read in court over vigorous objections of their attorney.

The FBI said the statement, read Wednesday at the trial of Joseph Howard Sims and Cecil Williams Myers, was signed by James S. Lackey, one of four men charged in the slaying.

Penn, of Washington, D.C., was shot to death early July 11 as he drove through north Georgia with two companions.

Although Lackey has repudiated the statement, it was admitted as evidence by Superior Court Judge Cary Skelton after an hours-long legal battle between defense attorney James Hudson and a special prosecutor, Jeff Wayne.

As Wayne read the statement, the courtroom became deathly silent. The jury of white men listened impassively.

At one point, Wayne quoted: "Both Sims and Myers fired shotguns into the Negroes' car."

Myers' wife, expecting a fourth child at any time, burst into tears. She and Sims' mother sobbed. Several other women seated nearby began to cry.

Lackey, who faces trial later, was quoted as saying he "had no idea they would really shoot the Negro and was very surprised when two shots were fired."

Clete Johnson, the state prosecutor, was asked later by a reporter if the statement would serve to reduce the charge of murder against Lackey. He said, "No, he's subject to the same penalty as the others."

In a surprise move, state attorneys dropped charges against the fourth defendant — Herbert Guest — and called him to the stand as a prosecution witness.

Guest insisted he could not remember giving a statement to the FBI about the slaying.

President Leads Tributes To Hero of World War I

PALL MALL, Tenn. (AP) — Sgt. Alvin C. York, who rode out to war 47 years ago in a horse-drawn sully, has returned to his beloved green valley of the Three Forks of the Wolf. President Johnson led tributes — from across the nation.

The doughboy hero of World War I died Wednesday in Nashville's Veterans Hospital at the age of 76, succumbing to a urinary tract infection.

The funeral, to which President Johnson and other leaders will send representatives or attend, will be at 2 p. m. Saturday at York's Chapel here on the banks of the Wolf River in the Cumberland Mountains.

President Johnson named retired Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today to represent him at the funeral.

The Army will be represented by Maj. Gen. Robert H. York (no kin), commanding general of the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C.; and Sgt. Maj. Chester D. Kendrick of the 82nd, the White House said.

The 82nd was York's World War I outfit.

Ridgway, a former commander of NATO, was the first wartime commander of the 82nd Airborne in World War II.

The President expressed his sorrow Wednesday, saying the Medal of Honor winner "epitomized the gallantry of American fighting men and their sacrifices in behalf of freedom."

Gen. Harold J. Johnson, chief of staff of the 3rd Army, released this statement: "In recognition of the special place that Sgt. York holds in the hearts of his Army comrades, past and present, the Army is furnishing an escort, band, firing party and bugler from his old outfit—the 82nd 'All-American' Division — to participate in the funeral service."

A choir will sing three of the York's favorite songs, "Faithful Lord Jesus," "Faith of Our Fathers," and "Onward Christian Soldiers." His strong religious convictions became part of the York legend. Once a conscientious objector, he went on to answer his country's call to World War I and killed 25 Germans and captured 132 more virtually single handed in the battle of Argonne Forest.

Not far from the Wolf River from the chapel where the funeral will be held is the big white farm house in which York lived for the past 42 years. He built the house in 1922 with money raised by his grateful, fellow Tennesseans.

York had been bedfast and virtually blind for 10 years, and had been in the hospital 10 times in the past two years before the final stay which began last Saturday. His family and his doctors agreed that the complications that he had battled for a decade would have killed a lesser man long ago.

Kids in Plane Plop Close to Parents

NEW RICHMOND, Ohio (AP) — Chance put Ronald Bernert, 25, and his sister, Diane, 20, in the right place at the right place and the right time when the engine of their small plane failed Wednesday night.

The plane fell into the Ohio River—just after, police said, it had swooped so low that the occupants might wave to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bernert, in a motorboat cruising nearby.

Village patrolman Sawyer Burns said they attempted the maneuver a second time but as they did, the engine failed and the plane made a forced landing in the water. Neither occupant was hurt.

He Buys Lot In Middle of Expressway

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Louis Stile discovered Wednesday he picked up a real bargain for $99 at that sheriff's sale: A 40 by 120 foot lot smack in the middle of a central interchange on the Akron Expressway.

A City Law Department official conceded that Stile, a builder, did own the property and conceivably could put up a toll gate on the expressway if he wanted to.

Stile bought the lot, sight unseen, at a sheriff's sale of property on which taxes were delinquent.

Delving into city records, officials discovered that the former owners had sold the land to the city of $1,300 nearly ten years ago when property was being acquired for the expressway. However, the sale never was finalized. Everyone forgot about the matter, including the owners, who stopped paying taxes on the land they thought had been turned over to the city.

Stile has no plans for his freeway property. He says he'll be glad to get rid of it if the city will give him back his $99.

It was the second such case in this area this year. A few months ago a Barberton man bought some bargain property at a sheriff's sale and discovered a public school building sitting on his lot.

U.S. Asked To Probe Bombings

CHICAGO (AP) — Frightened restaurant owners have called for federal action to halt the 2-year assault on Chicago businesses by arsonists and bombers who have caused $2.75 million damage.

Laurence Buckmaster, executive director of the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association, appealed directly Wednesday to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., head of the Senate Rackets Committee, to reopen hearings into the wave of restaurant attacks. The committee investigated an earlier outbreak of restaurant fires in 1958.

The latest victim of the terrorists, Joseph Wilkos, whose restaurant was bombed Tuesday night, also called for federal assistance.

The bombing of Wilkos' restaurant was the 74th unsolved bombing or arson fire in the Chicago area in the last 32 months. For Wilkos it was the third time in three months that one of his chain of restaurants has been bombed.

Wilkos, 60, said he telephoned Rep. Harold Collier, R-Ill., in Washington to ask the FBI to investigate.

"When the FBI gets into something they get to the bottom of it," he said. "I think that if they would investigate, this could be the answer."

U.S. Steps Up Aid to India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States is stepping up its shipments of wheat to its hungry nation as heavy monsoon rains multiply the misery by flooding vast areas of valuable cropland.

Indian officials announced Wednesday 80 U.S. ships are being used to rush shipments of surplus American wheat.

They are to bring four million tons between now and February — twice the amount that had been scheduled.

Heavy monsoon rains have hit northern India causing the worst floods in decades.

Authorities estimate that five million acres of vital crops are now under water. About 500,000 persons have been flooded from their homes.

Policemen Enter Pleas of Innocent

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two Cleveland patrolmen have pleaded innocent to four departmental charges against them in connection with a motorist's accusation that they solicited and accepted a bribe.

Patrolmen Wayne Airey and Stanley Olbrys appeared Wednesday before Safety Director John N. McCormick. They were charged with breaking a rule that prohibits police from accepting money, gross neglect of duty, failing to observe proper police procedures and conduct unbecoming officers.

Ortise C. Pryor Jr., 19, of Cleveland accused the patrolmen of soliciting $25 and accepting $10 to overlook a defective headlamp on his car. The patrolmen also face criminal charges of bribery. McCormick continued their case pending results of the criminal charges.

Wyoming Legislator 'Pumping Gold Water'

CODY, Wyo. (AP) — Wyoming House Speaker Marlin Kurtz of Cody is pumping gold water on behalf of a Republican victory in November.

The GOP legislator operates a pipe supply company in Cody and for advertising purposes has a large pump outside which keeps a constant stream of gold-colored water circulating in a tank.

A sign under the pump reads: "Pumping for Goldwater."

RFK Resigns Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy, off at last on an elective political career of his own, turned in his resignation as attorney general today.

Kennedy, who already has begun his campaign for the Senate in New York, met with President Johnson to make official his departure from the Cabinet post his assassinated brother gave him in 1961.

Kennedy 38, thus becomes the fourth member of the original New Frontier Cabinet to step out, and the first to leave since Johnson succeeded John F. Kennedy.

Preceding him were Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, now a Supreme Court justice; Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff, now a senator from Connecticut, and Postmaster General J. Edward Day, who quit to return to private life.

Khrushchev Approves Of Parley in Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has agreed to come to Bonn for political talks with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, the government press office announced today.

The announcement said Khrushchev had known his readiness for the visit in a statement delivered by Soviet Ambassador Andre Smirnov to the chancellor's office.

The press office said the time of the visit and the program will be worked out later through diplomatic channels.

Negro Voters Told Shun Negro

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Negro leader is urging members of his race to vote for a white moderate in a three-man race for the seat of Fulton Superior Court Judge Durwood T. Pye.

A. T. Walden, judge of the Atlanta Traffic Court, said in effect, in a letter to Negro voters, that a vote for Negro attorney Donald Hollowell would be wasted and merely help to elect Pye, who has been criticized for handing out stiff sentences to defendants in civil rights cases.

Negroes are urged by Walden to vote for white candidate Paul Webb Jr.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has proclaimed Saturday as "Ohio Sportsmen's Day," to pay tribute to those "who have contributed so greatly to the great outdoors."

Khanh Returns

a 48-hour fast in a move to end what they called "indiscriminate arrests, provocations and oppressions."

Oanh, who was visiting the northern city of Hue, was to return to his duties as deputy minister for economic affairs.

Khanh went into the emergency session today immediately after returning from Dalat. He appeared in good health.

The politician-soldier apparently had continued to direct government affairs although he said he was resting in Dalat. He said he had a heart condition and high blood pressure.

"Gen. Khanh's heart is much better, I cannot tell you much more," government officials told newsmen today.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor had indicated Khanh would again assume power in Viet Nam.

Oanh, a Harvard-educated economist, took over just before the government cracked down on the street fighting that wracked Saigon. He said then that he would head a caretaker government for two months, but that he still considered Khanh the real leader as head of the ruling triumvirate of generals.

The United States regards Khanh as the strongest leader in South Viet Nam. It has made no secret of its desire to have him back at the helm.

Khanh Returns

a 48-hour fast in a move to end what they called "indiscriminate arrests, provocations and oppressions."

Oanh, who was visiting the northern city of Hue, was to return to his duties as deputy minister for economic affairs. Khanh went into the emergency session today immediately after returning from Dalat. He appeared in good health.

The politician-soldier apparently had continued to direct government affairs although he said he was resting in Dalat. He said he had a heart condition and high blood pressure.

"Gen. Khanh's heart is much better, I cannot tell you much more," government officials told newsmen today.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor had indicated Khanh would again assume power in Viet Nam.

Oanh, a Harvard-educated economist, took over just before the government cracked down on the street fighting that wracked Saigon. He said then that he would head a caretaker government for two months, but that he still considered Khanh the real leader as head of the ruling triumvirate of generals.

The United States regards Khanh as the strongest leader in South Viet Nam. It has made no secret of its desire to have him back at the helm.

New Social

Friday in time for a three-day Labor Day weekend.

The biggest Senate fight on the legislation was settled Wednesday with a dramatic 49-44 vote to add to it hospitalization and other health care benefits for persons over 65.

Increased retirement and other benefits would also be provided, and both the tax rates and the wage base on which they are levied would be raised to meet the added costs.

It was the first time either branch of Congress ever had agreed to write a health care program into the 29-year-old Social Security system. The Senate rejected similar proposals in 1960 and 1962.

The health care amendment, sponsored by Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., was put through with votes of 44 Democrats and 5 Republicans.

Opposed were 16 Democrats, including 15 Southerners and Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, and 28 Republicans including Sen. Barry Goldwater, his party's presidential nominee.

President Johnson, who strongly supported the Gore-Anderson proposal, said in a statement the vote was "a victory not only for older Americans but for all Americans."

But Goldwater said the action "reveals a contempt for the intelligence and judgment of our people" and implies they "are incapable of deciding how to spend their money." He called it an additional tax burden on wage earners.

The health care amendment was added to a House-passed Social Security bill. It seemed to face highly dubious prospects when the measure goes to a Senate-House conference to reconcile the differences.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who long has opposed putting health benefits into Social Security, will head the House conferees.

Court Halts Blockade at Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—About 50 members of the National Farmers Organization blockaded entrances today at the Producers Livestock Association east of Wilmington.

Producers' officials immediately asked for a temporary injunction and it was granted by acting Common Pleas Court Judge Howard D. Barns. The injunction asked that the NFO and its local representatives to stop hindering operations of the stock yards.

Officials said the NFO action, however, caused the start of today's weekly auction to be postponed from 10 a.m. until at least noon.

About 50 trucks blocked unloading docks. There were no reports of violence.

Poor Man's Party Unfurls Banner

SECAUCUS, N.J. (AP)—Henry Krajewski, the former pig farmer, has made it official. He'll be a presidential candidate under the Poor Man's party banner "against two millionaires," he said Wednesday.

The somerited tavern owner said he has nothing against President Johnson or his Republican opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater, except that "they've been politicians too long."

Krajewski, 52, a father of five, organized the Poor Man's party in 1949 and has run for president in 1952, 1956 and 1960. He's also campaigned for U. S. senator, governor and a variety of local offices, losing every time.

Malaysia Fears Indonesians Plan To Mount Big Offensive

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman said today his government has decided to impose a state of emergency throughout Malaysia because of indications that Indonesia is preparing to "mount a big offensive" against this country.

Rahman presided at an emergency Cabinet session after high-level talks with British Commonwealth allies who pledged to increase military and economic aid following an airborne landing in Malaysia Wednesday by about 30 heavily armed Indonesian paratroopers.

"We'll give all the help we can," said Reginald Maundling, British chancellor of the exchequer.

Security forces today killed two more Indonesian paratroopers, the Defense Ministry announced.

It brought to four the number of Indonesians killed since an

Use of Drugs Discussed at Medic Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Use of drugs in controlling high blood pressure and loss of hearing were among subjects discussed today at the annual meeting of the Ohio Academy of General Practice.

Dr. David C. Humphrey of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation told the academy that proper use of drugs can control effects of high blood pressure and thereby prolong the patient's life.

"Hypertension is associated with a variety of disabling heart, brain and kidney complications which can shorten life," Dr. Humphrey said.

"Unfortunately, most patients do not have a specific cause which can be readily corrected. Control of the blood pressure with drugs then remains as an effective method to prolong life by preventing failure of the heart and kidneys."

Dr. Nathaniel Soifer, director of ear research at Dayton's Good Samaritan Hospital, told Ohio family doctors attending the meetings that one-third of the loss of hearing in humans is caused by spongy bone formation in the ear, a condition that can almost always be corrected by surgery.

Dr. Soifer described the condition as otosclerosis, a disease which builds up bone tissue in the middle ear around the bones which transmit sound to the auditory nerve by vibrations.

Stock Mart Is Cautious

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved unevenly early this afternoon as Wall Street showed typical pre-Labor Day caution. Trading was moderate.

The top auto and steel stocks were narrowly mixed, improving a little over early prices.

Airlines were hit by some sharp profit-taking.

The trend was higher among aerospace issues, chemicals and drugs.

Selective strength among assorted blue chips helped keep the averages on an even keel.

Moves of a few points in either direction highlighted the more volatile issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 316.9 with industrials up .1, rails up .2 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .09 at 845.17.

airborne attack in the Labis area, 105 miles southeast of this capital of Malaysia.

The ministry said one member of the security forces was killed and another wounded, the first Malaysian casualties.

The government accused "Communist or Indonesian provocateurs" of trying to incite fresh race rioting between Chinese and Malays in Singapore to divert attention from the airborne strike.

Rahman told a news conference the state of emergency to go into effect Friday is designed to help the government deal with Malaysians acting as Indonesian agents.

Under the emergency, persons found in illegal possessions of arms and explosives would face the death sentence.

Rahman also announced his government has asked the U.N. Security Council to take up what Malaysia has labeled "naked aggression" by Indonesia.

Asked to clarify his warning about a major invasion by Indonesia, Rahman referred to the order of President Sukarno on Wednesday canceling all leaves for members of the armed forces.

This was indicative of a "threat of further landings," Rahman told reporters.

Sukarno also is expected to make an important statement in the next day or so on his campaign to crush Malaysia, which he calls a device to perpetuate British colonialism in Southeast Asia.

People conversant with the situation say Australia will not tolerate invasion of Malaysia in force.

Those who have discussed the matter with high-ranking Australians see them determined, if necessary, to carry war to the heart of Indonesia with all the power Australia has at its command.

Australia would expect the

'Oil Play' In Ohio Seen Continuing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Is Ohio's oil situation "a boom, a bust" or just a play on words.

Kirk Jordan, executive director of the Ohio Oil and Gas Association, stepped into the argument Wednesday saying it is neither.

In modern oilman's terms, he said, it is "oil play."

"It has become a more solid oil play," he said. "It is a very healthy oil play at the moment. I think it will continue to be one for a long time."

The disagreement started when J. Lester Zimmerman, chief of the Ohio Division of Mines said he believes "the boom is over."

Ralph Bernhagen, chief of the Ohio Division of Geological Survey, disagreed. He said 1,155 wells were drilled in 1963 and that so far this year 2,398 permits have been issued.

"To me, this doesn't look like it's dying," Bernhagen said.

"We're getting more plugged holes, more dry holes and that's what make me say the boom is over," Zimmerman said.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 3, the 247th day of 1964. There are 119 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1609, Henry Hudson's 80-ton ship, the Half Moon, rounded Sandy Hook on a voyage from England which had started in April. Seeking a northwest passage to Asia, Hudson sailed up the river, now being his name, to the vicinity of what later became Troy, N.Y.

On this date: In 1873, the Treaty of Paris between the United States and Britain officially ended the Revolutionary War.

In 1894, Labor Day was observed for the first time throughout the nation as a legal holiday.

In 1939, Britain and France declared war on Germany, the start of World War II; the Nazis had invaded Poland two days before.

Ten years ago — Two U.S. Army officers were killed on Quemoy Island in an artillery exchange between the Chinese Reds on the mainland and Nationalists on Quemoy.

Five years ago—U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld emphasized in a report to the General Assembly that the U.N. held primary responsibility in any situation endangering world peace.

One year ago—Russia cast her 101st veto to block a U.N. Security Council resolution condemning the killing of two Israelis by Syrians.

Parents of Slain Girl Recovering from Shock

CINCINNATI (AP) — Almost two weeks have passed since the body of four-year-old Deborah Dappen was discovered beneath a porch in suburban Fairfax the night of Aug. 21, but a search still goes on.

It's a search in the hearts and minds of her parents, Karl and Rosemary Dappen — a search for the strength to put the shattered pieces of their lives back together again.

The Dappens are a typical middle-income suburban family. At least they were, before fate thrust them into a nightmare. Then suddenly they were principals in a sensational news event. Their little girl had been killed by a teen-aged boy who lived nearby, and before the grim discovery was made, the Dappens went through three days and nights of agonizing doubt and false hopes that she would be found alive.

"That was the worst part," Mrs. Dappen said, "the waiting and uncertainty. Every time the phone rang I almost jumped out of my skin. Then that Thursday I knew that she was gone. And after they found her, I felt a sense of relief. At least I knew where she was. . . that she was here with us and not off somewhere where we might never see her again, or know what had happened to her."

As she talked, she sat near a coffee table containing an old typewriter and hundreds of letters of sympathy from all over the country. She said she has been trying to acknowledge all of them. "It gives me something to do. . . keeps me busy. I have to keep busy or I know I'll get sick," she said.

Karl Lee, 7, the Dappens' other child, was staying with grandparents.

"He's been such a good boy," she continued. "He understands what has happened, as much as a seven year old mind can understand. Sometimes I think he must miss Debbie more than we do. They were very close. He came to me the other day and said, 'Mom, it won't be as much fun any more.' They used to enjoy coming down stairs together in the morning and waking us up."

Dappen, a salesman for the Cincinnati Auto Club, sat beside his wife on the couch. He said that his whole set of values has changed; that things he once thought were problems suddenly seemed insignificant after Debbie's death.

Mrs. Dappen looked at her husband said, "I don't know how Karl has been able to stand it. He didn't get any sleep for days."

The couple said they still don't understand why it had to happen; that they still haven't been able to find all the answers. But they agreed that there has to be a reason.

Mrs. Dappen said, "It has brought us all closer together in our faith. The Rev. David Hadden and all our other friends have been a treasure."

Cleveland Schools Short 100 Teachers

CLEVELAND (AP) — About 153,000 pupils will start public school next week and the Cleveland School System finds itself short 100 teachers—60 in the high schools and 40 in elementary schools.

The city's Board of Education, in an attempt to alleviate the shortage, approved a resolution raising the pay from $18 to $25 a day for substitute teachers.

Derby

Next Sunday is Rally Day at the Derby Church. Everyone is urged to attend and bring a friend.

Members of the Derby and Five Points WSCS were guests of the Mt. Sterling WSCS on Wednesday evening. Miss Connie McPherson a former member of the Peace Corps, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Archie Sweet and daughter, Susi, visited on Saturday with Mrs. Edward Gleesah and Miss Judy Harris, of Columbus.

The first Fall meeting of the Derby MYF is scheduled for next Sunday evening at the Church. Members are urged to be present at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Nelle Bauhan spent several days last week visiting with Mrs. Georgia Duke of Columbus.

Mr. Floyd Mouser returned home recently from his stay in Doctor's Hospital. His friends and neighbors are happy to see him about again, and feeling better.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Phillips had a Sunday overnight guests their granddaughters, Ruth and Wanda Caldwell of Williamsport.

With birthdays are: Teddy Dingus, Aug. 29; Pamela Liff, Aug. 30; Becky Gantz Sept. 1; Geneva Graham, Sept. 3; Michael Gossard, Sept. 5; Marci Jo Dorflinger, Sept. 7.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 3, the 247th day of 1964. There are 119 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1609, Henry Hudson's 80-ton ship, the Half Moon, rounded Sandy Hook on a voyage from England which had started in April. Seeking a northwest passage to Asia, Hudson sailed up the river, now being his name, to the vicinity of what later became Troy, N.Y.

On this date: In 1873, the Treaty of Paris between the United States and Britain officially ended the Revolutionary War.

In 1894, Labor Day was observed for the first time throughout the nation as a legal holiday.

In 1939, Britain and France declared war on Germany, the start of World War II; the Nazis had invaded Poland two days before.

Ten years ago — Two U.S. Army officers were killed on Quemoy Island in an artillery exchange between the Chinese Reds on the mainland and Nationalists on Quemoy.

Five years ago—U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld emphasized in a report to the General Assembly that the U.N. held primary responsibility in any situation endangering world peace.

One year ago—Russia cast her 101st veto to block a U.N. Security Council resolution condemning the killing of two Israelis by Syrians.

Parents of Slain Girl Recovering from Shock

CINCINNATI (AP) — Almost two weeks have passed since the body of four-year-old Deborah Dappen was discovered beneath a porch in suburban Fairfax the night of Aug. 21, but a search still goes on.

It's a search in the hearts and minds of her parents, Karl and Rosemary Dappen — a search for the strength to put the shattered pieces of their lives back together again.

The Dappens are a typical middle-income suburban family. At least they were, before fate thrust them into a nightmare. Then suddenly they were principals in a sensational news event. Their little girl had been killed by a teen-aged boy who lived nearby, and before the grim discovery was made, the Dappens went through three days and nights of agonizing doubt and false hopes that she would be found alive.

"That was the worst part," Mrs. Dappen said, "the waiting and uncertainty. Every time the phone rang I almost jumped out of my skin. Then that Thursday I knew that she was gone. And after they found her, I felt a sense of relief. At least I knew where she was... that she was here with us and not off somewhere where we might never see her again, or know what had happened to her."

As she talked, she sat near a coffee table containing an old typewriter and hundreds of letters of sympathy from all over the country. She said she has been trying to acknowledge all of them. "It gives me something to do... keeps me busy. I have to keep busy or I know I'll get sick," she said.

Karl Lee, 7, the Dappens' other child, was staying with grandparents.

"He's been such a good boy," she continued. "He understands what has happened, as much as a seven year old mind can understand. Sometimes I think he must miss Debbie more than we do. They were very close. He came to me the other day and said, 'Mom, it won't be as much fun any more.' They used to enjoy coming down stairs together in the morning and waking us up."

Dappen, a salesman for the Cincinnati Auto Club, sat beside his wife on the couch. He said that his whole set of values has changed; that things he once thought were problems suddenly seemed insignificant after Debbie's death.

Mrs. Dappen looked at her husband said, "I don't know how Karl has been able to stand it. He didn't get any sleep for days."

The couple said they still don't understand why it had to happen; that they still haven't been able to find all the answers. But they agreed that there has to be a reason.

Mrs. Dappen said, "It has brought us all closer together in our faith. The Rev. David Hadden and all our other friends have been a treasure."

Cleveland Schools Short 100 Teachers

CLEVELAND (AP) — About 153,000 pupils will start public school next week and the Cleveland School System finds itself short 100 teachers—60 in the high schools and 40 in elementary schools.

The city's Board of Education, in an attempt to alleviate the shortage, approved a resolution raising the pay from $18 to $25 a day for substitute teachers.

NEW YORK (AP)—It's time for another double-talk drill. Double-talk, you will recall, is the art of saying one thing while you're thinking the opposite. Double-talk is the cement that holds society together. It is the basis of polite conversation everywhere, and of course in an election year we simply couldn't do without it.

Here are a few typical examples.

"No, Gerald, I'm not the least bit sleepy." If this bore doesn't go home soon, I'm going to yawn right in his big fat face.

"Some men say a woman doesn't really become attractive until she's 30." But oh, how I wish I was 29 again.

"We want to keep this campaign on a high level. There'll be no mud-slinging on our part." Besides, my opponent has more mud to throw than I do.

"But officer, I know I couldn't have been going 65 miles an hour." I was doing 70 at least.

"This is one party platform that will be carried out." Carried out and buried.

"Can't I cut you another slice of meat, old boy?" The way this guy puts down the groceries, maybe it'd be simpler just to wrap up the roast and let him take it home.

"Mabel, I don't see how you ever got the idea your legs are too slim." Of course, they would look better on a canary.

"You're just the kind of man we need in public life, Jim. I'll be glad to lend you my support." Just so you don't ask me to lend you any financial support.

"His life has always been an open book." And every page is as empty as his head.

"Oh, I didn't know you were trying to park in this space, too." Beat you to it, didn't I, wise guy?

"Now, remember, it's a secret. Don't breathe a word of it to any living soul." I'll tell them first myself.

"It is indeed a pleasure, Jones, to hand you this gold pin in honor of your 25 years of loyal service to the firm. Keep up the good work." Where's he been hiding? I thought I told the personnel manager to fire this dummy 20 years ago.

"Yeah, he did a good job on your dentures. They look real natural." They'd look even more natural on a Shetland pony.

Did Barry Goldwater "capitulate" to the liberal Republicans at Hershey, Pennsylvania? The point is still being argued with considerable heat. Some commentators have deduced from the "harmony" session that Barry has let his most fervent supporters, the unyielding conservatives, down. These commentators have chortled about "surrender," and have said that Goldwater has placed a "veto" in Ike Eisenhower's hands over the choice of a possible Secretary of State. Other observers more careful of their semantics, have not discerned "surrender" in the Goldwater promise to consult with Eisenhower on foreign policy personnel and matters. A promise to seek advice is not necessarily an iron-clad promise to accept it willy nilly.

For myself, I think the controversy over the "capitulation" theory proceeds from a disingenuous attempt by anti-Goldwaterites to muddy the waters. This muddying is indulged in on several levels. In sarcastic vein, a liberal commentator has suggested that people like Robert Welch and General Walker will show up in the Goldwater cabinet. This is sheer vicious distortion. I am not privy to Goldwater's inmost thoughts, but I would offer good odds that, even before the Hershey meeting with the "liberal" Republican governors and party leaders, Barry Goldwater had someone like Richard Nixon or William Knowland in mind for Secretary of State. If this does indeed represent his range of choice, he took no risk in intimating to Eisenhower that he would accept advice on foreign policy personnel. Ike could hardly veto either Nixon or Knowland. After all, Nixon was Ike's own "boy," and Knowland fully agreed with the Dulles policy on the safety of Formosa Strait.

Goldwater has almost certainly given nothing away by mollifying the "liberals" with a promise to stay away from extremists who believe in violating laws to get their way. After all, who has been more obdurately a "constitutionalist" than Barry himself? Goldwater was among the first to raise the "switchblade" issue, making the question of safety in the streets a prominent part of his acceptance speech at San Francisco. Ever since then Lyndon Johnson has been hitting the same note. Since Goldwater has been so explicit in the leadership he has taken in repudiating illegal violence, how can it be pictured as "capitulation" when he promises the liberal Republicans that he wants no votes from anybody who would settle things by by-passing the law?

As for the much contested epigram, "extremism in defense of freedom is no vice," didn't John F. Kennedy say something in his inaugural speech about helping any friend, opposing any enemy, bearing any burden and paying any price to assure the survival of freedom? If you are willing to bear any burden and pay any price, aren't you being extreme? Goldwater, indeed, could be accused of cribbing from Kennedy — but that was not among the issues that had to be settled at Hershey.

Far from surrendering to the liberals, Goldwater has taken them piecemeal into his own camp by exposing the fact that the members of the so-called

"eastern Establishment" are by no means agreed among themselves on what they mean by liberalism. The Ike Eisenhower who stood firm with John Foster Dulles on the issue of Quemoy and Matsu could hardly boggle at a firm Goldwater line toward Communists in Vietnam or Berlin. The Milton Eisenhower who was one of the authors of the Republican "position paper" on Cuba is not in a good spot to object to the formation of an anti-Castro government — in - exile. The Richard Nixon who has spoken up so bravely at times for the Hungarians and the Poles could only cheer if Goldwater should let loose with a detailed denunciation of Soviet colonialism. There is enough agreement between Goldwater and the separate liberals on separate specific issues to make for a common campaign front without anybody being called upon to apologize or show a white feather.

Goldwater promised nothing at Hershey other than to consult with Eisenhower on someone like Nixon for Secretary of State, someone like ex-diplomat Robert Murphy to be an important assistant to a man like Nixon, and someone like Clare Luce for Ambassador — or Ambassador — to the UN. He promised nothing more than to keep clear of enlisting the help of anarchists of the deed. How does any of this do violence to the "original" Barry Goldwater? The answer is that Goldwater is still Goldwater, and most of the liberal Republicans, scenting a possible party victory in November, have decided they can get along with the man.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To The Editor:

It is not often that a farm organization receives front page copy in our local newspapers. But when it does, the publicity leaves nothing but a bad taste in the mouths of the citizen-ship.

To the consumer, we are trying to starve her family and raise her prices. To the farmers who disagree with this sort of tactics it means another obstacle to overcome and still no relief from the actual problems in agriculture.

I am a farmer. But first I am a citizen and one of many or the majority of farmers who disagree with the tactics that the NFO is using to attempt to increase farm income.

For the agribusiness people who are involved with modern day agriculture, it is time we stand up and be counted. We know that strikes, closing stockyards, holding mass rallies to stimulate sympathy and becoming so radical that any extreme measure seems justifiable is not right.

The approach that NFO is taking can only mean a temporary price increase at best. This type of program has not been a success in the past and will not be in the future.

The government has done the same thing the NFO is doing—guaranteeing the farmer a set income for his product.

What has been the effect? More surpluses. I grant you the government hasn't set its values as high as the NFO. But let's be assured that if these prices were to ever occur through false economic pressure, the people to benefit would be the larger farmers, not the average farmers.

I say this to the NFO. I challenge members to prove to us that the withholding action wasn't planned now because of the cattle market being on an upswing before the action started.

What have members' dues in this organization done for them but make verbal promises since the existence of the organization? Granted members have been able to vent feelings and enjoyed sausage dinners. But any social organization can accomplish as much.

DISGUSTED AGRIBUSINESS-MAN

To The Editor:

The American farmer as a rugged individualist hauls his produce to market like a whipped dog with his tail drawn in and lets the controlling giants pay him what they will.

This is a statement of fact, however harsh it may sound. Farming is an industry but we have failed to treat it as such.

What other industry lets the buyer set the price? All other industries figure in the cost of production plus a reasonable profit.

For industry to survive and expand there must be a profit motive. To have an expanding agricultural industry there must be a profit motive.

Yet farmers of today are being paid less than the cost of production for what he sells. The farmer is the first to own the most valuable necessity of man—food.

Are we as farmers asked to take less and less for what we sell? It would look that way.

Are farmers so stupid as to think that the food processors out of the goodness of their hearts will pay us the cost of production plus a reasonable profit? The processor will have to be forced into this.

At this time the National Farmers Organization is in a holding action trying to get contracts with meat processors. Because of the holding action NFO has come in for a lot of criticism.

Even if one questions the NFO approach that is no reason for using it as a whipping post. Those who criticize are obligated to come forward with constructive ideas and suggestions.

We in the NFO are at least trying to do something other than sitting back and taking potshots at the other fellow's attempts.

The NFO is a farm organization of farmers only. This is more than any other so called farm organization can say. The Ohio Farm Bureau is actively seeking non-farm rural residents as new members.

Can farmers expect real representation and bargaining power from organizations filled with non-farm rural residents? These activities are being engaged in to preserve and strengthen the organizations and co-ops while the number of farmers dwindle away.

I would like to direct a question to Farm Bureau officials: How can you say yours is a farm organization when it has non-farm rural residents as members? Also what is the Farm Bureau doing to put money in its farmer members' pockets?

PROUD NFO MEMBER

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WOODY ALLEN, diminutive, perpetually-worried-looking, bespectacled comedian has this year become one of our most popular TV monologists and night club enter-

Woody Allen

Among Woody Allen's so-called autobiographical notes: "I had a terrible education. I attended a school for emotionally disturbed teachers." . . . "The Boy Scouts kicked me out because I tried to rub one stick together to make a fire. This is very Zen—but definitely not Boy Scout." . . . "My wife was an immature woman. I'd be in the bathroom taking a bath and she would walk right in—and sink my boats."

"I'm doing fine now," concedes Woody, "but you have no idea how long before that I had to eat in restaurants that had O.P.S. prices—other people's salaries."

Overheard in Central Park:

Gushing lady beaming at occupants of a double baby carriage: "How adorable! Are they twins?"

Wary man pushing the carriage: "Oh, no, Lady. I've got two wives."

New Drill in Double-Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—It's time for another double-talk drill. Double-talk, you will recall, is the art of saying one thing while you're thinking the opposite. Double-talk is the cement that holds society together. It is the basis of polite conversation everywhere, and of course in an election year we simply couldn't do without it.

Here are a few typical examples:

"No, Gerald, I'm not the least bit sleepy." If this bore doesn't go home soon, I'm going to yawn right in his big fat face.

"Some men say a woman doesn't really become attractive until she's 30." But oh, how I wish I was 29 again.

"We want to keep this campaign on a high level. There'll be no mud-slinging on our part." Besides, my opponent has more mud to throw than I do.

"But officer, I know I couldn't have been going 65 miles an hour." I was doing 70 at least.

"This is one party platform that will be carried out." Carried out and buried.

"Can't I cut you another slice of meat, old boy?" The way this guy puts down the groceries, maybe it'd be simpler just to wrap up the roast and let him take it home.

"Mabel, I don't see how you ever got the idea your legs are too slim." Of course, they would look better on a canary.

"You're just the kind of man we need in public life, Jim. I'll be glad to lend you my support." Just so you don't ask me to lend you any financial support.

"His life has always been an open book." And every page is as empty as his head.

"Oh, I didn't know you were trying to park in this space, too." Beat you to it, didn't I, wise guy?

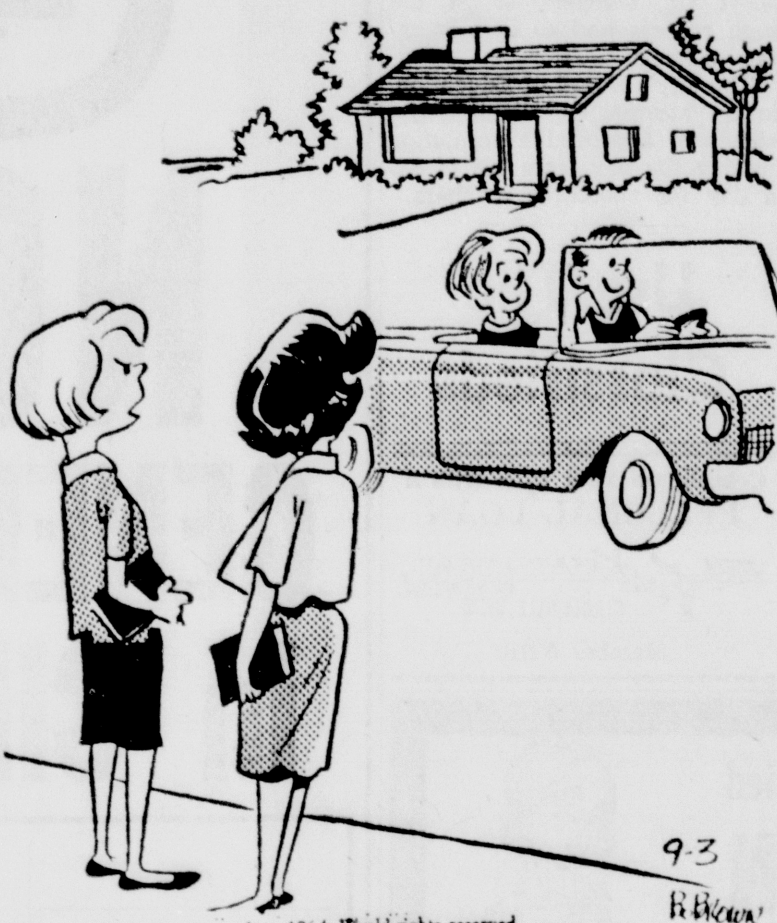

"Now, remember, it's a secret. Don't breathe a word of it to any living soul." I'll tell them first myself.

"It is indeed a pleasure, Jones, to hand you this gold pin in honor of your 25 years of loyal service to the firm. Keep up the good work." Where's he been hiding? I thought I told the personnel manager to fire this dummy 20 years ago.

"Yeah, he did a good job on your dentures. They look real natural." They'd look even more natural on a Shetland pony.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WOODY ALLEN, diminutive, perpetually-worried-looking, bespectacled comedian has this year become one of our most popular TV monologists and night club entertainers, but no "overnight success" by any means. He worked for years writing material for Garry Moore, Sid Caesar, Art Carney, and the like before daring it on his own. "Laugh if you like," he says, "but I consider myself virile, a scholar, an acid wit—in short, a sort of intellectual Cary Grant." So everybody laughs.

Among Woody Allen's so-called autobiographical notes: "I had a terrible education. I attended a school for emotionally disturbed teachers" . . . "The Boy Scouts kicked me out because I tried to rub one stick together to make a fire. This is very Zen—but definitely not Boy Scout" . . . "My wife was an immature woman. I'd be in the bathroom taking a bath and she would walk right in—and sink my boats."

"I'm doing fine now," concedes Woody, "but you have no idea how long before that I had to eat in restaurants that had O.P.S. prices—other people's salaries."

Overheard in Central Park:

Gushing lady beaming at occupants of a double baby carriage: "How adorable! Are they twins?"

Wary man pushing the carriage: "Oh, no, Lady. I've got two wives."

Tiger Gridders planned to enjoy a brief vacation, with no practice scheduled for Labor Day.

Mrs. James Trimmer and son, James, and Mrs. Charles Richardson and son, Howard, of Circleville left for a motor trip East and planned to attend the New York World's Fair.

Ashville was to be the center of activity in Pickaway County's observance of Labor Day with a celebration to be staged in the village park by the Henry Page Folsom Post, No. 3331, of Circleville.

In Retrospect

Did Barry Goldwater "capitulate" to the liberal Republicans at Hershey, Pennsylvania? The point is still being argued with considerable heat. Some commentators have deduced from the "harmony" session that Barry has let his most fervent supporters, the unyielding conservatives, down. These commentators have chortled about "surrender," and have said that Goldwater has placed a "veto" in Ike Eisenhower's hands over the choice of a possible Secretary of State. Other observers more careful of their semantics, have not discerned "surrender" in the Goldwater promise to consult with Eisenhower on foreign policy personnel and matters. A promise to seek advice is not necessarily an iron-clad promise to accept it willily.

For myself, I think the controversy over the "capitulation" theory proceeds from a disingenuous attempt by anti-Goldwaterites to muddy the waters. This muddying is indulged in on several levels. In sarcastic vein, a liberal commentator has suggested that people like Robert Welch and General Walker will show up in the Goldwater cabinet. This is sheer vicious distortion. I am not privy to Goldwater's inmost thoughts, but I would offer good odds that, even before the Hershey meeting with the "liberal" Republican governors and party leaders, Barry Goldwater had someone like Richard Nixon or William Knowland in mind for Secretary of State. If this does indeed represent his range of choice, he took no risk in intimating to Eisenhower that he would accept advice on foreign policy personnel. Ike could hardly veto either Nixon or Knowland. After all, Nixon was Ike's own "boy," and Knowland fully agreed with the Dulles policy on the safety of Formosa Strait.

Goldwater has almost certainly given nothing away by mollifying the "liberals" with a promise to stay away from extremists who believe in violating laws to get their way. After all, who has been more obdurately a "constitutionalist" than Barry himself? Goldwater was among the first to raise the "switchblade" issue, making the question of safety in the streets a prominent part of his acceptance speech at San Francisco. Ever since then Lyndon Johnson has been hitting the same note. Since Goldwater has been so explicit in the leadership he has taken in repudiating illegal violence, how can it be pictured as "capitulation" when he promises the liberal Republicans that he wants no votes from anybody who would settle things by by-passing the law?

As for the much contested epigram, "extremism in defense of freedom is no vice," didn't John F. Kennedy say something in his inauguration speech about helping any friend, opposing any enemy, bearing any burden and paying any price to assure the survival of freedom? If you are willing to bear any burden and pay any price, aren't you being extreme? Goldwater, indeed, could be accused of cribbing from Kennedy—but that was not among the issues that had to be settled at Hershey.

Far from surrendering to the liberals, Goldwater has taken them piecemeal into his own camp by exposing the fact that the members of the so-called

"eastern Establishment" are by no means agreed among themselves on what they mean by liberalism. The Ike Eisenhower who stood firm with John Foster Dulles on the issue of Quemoy and Matsu could hardly boggle at a firm Goldwater line toward Communists in Vietnam or Berlin. The Milton Eisenhower who was one of the authors of the Republican "position paper" on Cuba is not in a good spot to object to the formation of an anti-Castro government—in exile. The Richard Nixon who has spoken up so bravely at times for the Hungarians and the Poles could only cheer if Goldwater should let loose with a detailed denunciation of Soviet colonialism. There is enough agreement between Goldwater and the separate liberals on separate specific issues to make for a common campaign front without anybody being called upon to apologize or show a white feather.

Goldwater promised nothing at Hershey other than to consult with Eisenhower on someone like Nixon for Secretary of State, someone like ex-diplomat Robert Murphy to be an important assistant to a man like Nixon, and someone like Clare Luce for Ambassador—or Ambassador— to the UN. He promised nothing more than to keep clear of enlisting the help of anarchists of the deed. How does any of this do violence to the "original" Barry Goldwater? The answer is that Goldwater is still Goldwater, and most of the liberal Repub-

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To The Editor:

It is not often that a farm organization receives front page copy in our local newspapers. But when it does, the publicity leaves nothing but a bad taste in the mouths of the citizenship.

To the consumer, we are trying to starve her family and raise her prices. To the farmers who disagree with this sort of tactics it means another obstacle to overcome and still no relief from the actual problems in agriculture.

I am a farmer. But first I am a citizen and one of many or the majority of farmers who disagree with the tactics that the NFO is using to attempt to increase farm income.

For the agribusiness people who are involved with modern day agriculture, it is time we stand up and be counted. We know that strikes, closing stockyards, holding mass rallies to stimulate sympathy and becoming so radical that any extreme measure seems justifiable is not right.

The approach that NFO is taking can only mean a temporary price increase at best. This type of program has not been a success in the past and not be in the future.

The government has done the same thing the NFO is doing—guaranteeing the farmer a set income for his product.

What has been the effect? More surpluses. I grant you the government hasn't set its values as high as the NFO. But let's be assured that if these prices were to ever occur through false economic pressure, the people to benefit would be the larger farmers, not the average farmers.

I say this to the NFO. I challenge members to prove to us that the withholding action wasn't planned now because of the cattle market being on an upswing before the action started.

What have members' dues in this organization done for them but make verbal promises since the existence of the organization? Granted members have been able to vent feelings and enjoyed sausage dinners. But any social organization can accomplish as much.

DISGUSTED AGRIBUSINESS-MAN

To The Editor:

The American farmer as a rugged individualist hauls his produce to market like a whipped dog with his tail drawn in and lets the controlling giants pay him what they will.

This is a statement of fact, however harsh it may sound. Farming is an industry but we

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Picture Might Lie!

DEAR ABBY: What can I do with a husband who talks of nothing but his ailments? He is tall, handsome and the picture of health. He has been examined by experts, who all say he is as fit as a fiddle. Yet he has driven away almost all his friends because he complains so much. He even tells the clerks in stores about his aches and pains. If we go on a trip, all he remembers about it afterwards are the places where he had the headaches. I am—

GETTING DESPERATE

DEAR ABBY: If your husband continues to complain about his health after the experts affirm that he is as "fit as a fiddle," quit fiddling around and take the cue. Ask one of those experts to recommend another expert — in the psychiatry department. Fiddles have been known to snap a string.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of married children who are always taking advantage of their parents? They bring their children to us so we can babysit with them, and they spend the week-ends fishing or going away somewhere.

They all work and could well afford to hire someone to sit with their children. They could also ask their parents to go with them once in a while, but they never think of it. I hope you'll print this because they read your column and it would do them good to know how selfish they are.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: They

may be selfish, but you don't deserve much sympathy. Why don't you tell THEM that you are not a free baby-sitting service? They are probably under the impression that you enjoy it because you haven't complained.

DEAR ABBY: Tell Joe, who couldn't seem to stick with a diet, that his idea of going to jail for 30 days and living on bread and water was not so dumb. If he has all that money for doctors, why not get himself a few acres of land in an out-of-the way place and build his own "jail"? He could get a time lock and lock himself in with only a jug of water, a few oranges and some carrots. I've had a weight problem for years and that's what I do. I built myself a little place near Palm Springs, and when I put on about ten extra pounds, I lock myself in for 36 hours at a crack. I am 56 and in fine shape. If Joe lives anywhere near Palm Springs, Calif., he is welcome to use my "jail."

WEIGHTLESS

CHENILLE PLANT—The chenille plant at the Milton Mansons across from the Fairgrounds has people stopping all the time to ask its name. Mrs. Manson poses here with the plant which has long ropes of red that sometimes droop all the way to the ground. It is also called Love-Lies-Bleeding. The seed was procured from Mrs. Manson's sister, Mrs. Grace Leist, E. Union St. The plant is a curiosity. Milton Manson has staked them and has watered them regularly. According to Mrs. Manson, they have used about "a million dollars worth of water" this summer. Mr. Manson, just home from the hospital, sees to it that somebody gives the plants care while he recuperates.

Mrs. Kinser Great Grandma, And Gardener of Excellence

As colorful a garden as can be imagined is that of Mrs. Charles Kinser of Amanda.

Her home is located on Route 22 across from the furniture store. Passersby blink with unbelieving pleasure when they see the green lawn and the bright flowers bordering the half moon drive in front of the house.

If you are wondering how there can be a garden so green and full of bloom in this dry area, Mrs. Kinser explains it in two simple words, "We water." And it is evident that they water faithfully.

Red salvias, pale yellow dwarf marigolds and petunias that match the salvias along with blooming cannas are responsible for the bright color that one cannot miss as he passes.

THE KINSER lot has a narrow border of shrubs and perennials around three sides of it. Here one finds all colors including pastels and whites.

Within the half moon, two red Japanese maples have been planted. Flanking the house are two fine specimens of blue spruce. In back providing shade are young maples of considerable size.

Mrs. Kinser has five pink dogwoods and several magnolias, including a rather rare white species. One of the magnolias had bloomed persistently since spring.

And speaking of autumn the Kinser wisteria which climbs over an ornamental frame was in full bloom for a second time just two weeks ago. This has not happened before.

Mrs. Kinser, who was 67 the day I visited her garden, does all the work herself. Her husband helps with deals like mixing the cement when Mrs. Kinser decides she wants a fish pond. But she considers the gardening her chore and one she loves.

When we asked Mrs. Kinser how much time it took she refused to answer. She says she's just outdoors weeding or watering or transplanting a good bit of the time.

THIS BLUE-EYED alert gardener started with two young trees. From cuttings that she had rooted in the seven years they have lived in their present location, she has a dozen or more sturdy sizeable evergreens which are in her front planters.

Against the white modern house are tall red salvias. These match in color the salvias that border the driveway, but are higher.

In the perennial border plants, which bloom in season, are peonies, iris, daylilies, phlox, Canterbury bells, liatris, butterfly weed, shasta daisy,

Included in the shrub collection are lilacs, snowballs, butterfly bush, akheas, Japanese quince — just about all the well known shrubs.

Besides the ornamentals, this energetic gardener has a fine vegetable garden. She freezes her surplus for winter. In this portion of the yard are rows of string beans, beautiful cabbages, carrots, tomatoes, four rows of strawberries and a row of raspberries.

Mrs. Kinser declared she hated weeds as she yanked out one lonesome volunteer that had somehow escaped her notice. And it was most evident that she meant what she said. A weed stands little or no chance in this smartly groomed garden.

MRS. KINSER'S blue eyes twinkled when she said, "I don't pay any attention to the rules. I just plant anything at any time and it grows."

She has a little sycamore tree which she found one day by the creek and her husband warned her it would not grow if she tried to transplant it. It's growing alright!

She has excellent luck rooting rose cuttings. Incidentally, she has elegant roses. These are planted to the back of her house and one bordered by white creeping phlox which blooms in spring. She has only sprayed once this summer. She does not have too much trouble with insects and only takes mea-

Garden Gossip

As surely as the poison ivy leaves turn red and the blue lobelia blooms along the ditches, plans for the water pageant at the Brier Patch Farm begin to take form.

As usual the water pageant will be held on Labor Day. This year it has been scheduled for 3:30 p. m. and the picnic supper will follow. Everybody is invited to both events.

This is the 6th year for the pageant. And our crop of swimmers gets bigger and better each fall. It's to be a Hillbilly theme this year, entitled "The Feud at Barn Swallow Pond."

I am the only one that takes this frolic seriously. But I am as nervous as a mother hen with 60 chicks. Dick Davis is to be director again this year.

We import actors for the performance because I want all the regular swimmers for water performances.

Casual clothes and blankets or lawn chairs for sitting are suggested for those who plan to attend.

Mrs. Joe McCoy, who won the master gardener award given by the Ohio Assn. of Garden Clubs, is not only lucky but deserving. We saw her garden several years ago. It was indeed a marvel. And extensive as it was we remember how she was working out plans to enlarge it.

That would be a powerful nice award to receive. It would mean not only a special honor but also it would mean a very grand garden.

Mrs. Charles Kinser says the martins left her garden about 10 days ago. She loves these birds and has a rooming house for them. I understood her to say she had 21 nesting in the house.

The cherry crop this year was a heavy one. My son, Robert

ly. Petunias are planted in these beds.

Morning glories have been planted to climb the clothes line posts and Mrs. Kinser says if they don't quit vining she won't have any space to hang up her clothes.

Morning is an especially nice time to view the Kinser garden. Morning glories, altheas and portulaca or moss rose are out in full glory.

In spite of the fact that Mrs. Kinser has used many annuals in her front planting and spaced strategically in her perennial borders, hers, she says, is actually a perennial garden.

Does she have a favorite season? No, she loves all flowers so much she just enjoys each season as it comes along.

When we took garden pictures, Mrs. Kinser was busy in the basement where she does her canning. She was putting up tomato juice, plums and had her hands in the flour to mix up pie dough.

Mrs. Kinser has five children all living in or near the Amanda community. She has 11 grandchildren and several great grandchildren. But great grandma or not, she's a real tomboy and a gardener without peer.

Jones, predicted a hot dry summer. He said droughts always followed a big cherry crop.

One of my grandsons discovered an apple tree along our line fence. The apples were fine cookers so I sent him back with a basket to gather more. He was obliged to scramble up the tree and leave his basket on the ground when the cows got after him. They turned the basket over and ate the apples.

It is amazing what makes an appearance along a fence. For several years I tried to transplant a sassafras tree or two in the yard. They did not grow. Now we have a couple that just came up along the front fence.

And speaking of heavy crops the flowering crab in the Jim Moffitts yard is a really beautiful sight. It is full of tiny red crabapples.

Mrs. Joe Stump and I are not sure what Mayhaws are. But a food firm has a recipe for Mayhew jelly. But we both think Mayhaws are the tiny apples on the Haw trees. We used to call them thornapples and they have a delightful flavor.

The Cliff Hedges on Route 22 always have a display of flowers. We passed last Saturday and sure enough the petunias and zinnias were ablaze.

A nephew, Jim Jones, of Cincinnati, was telling me that on a field trip with Nature Conservancy friends a vine with large blue grapes was pointed out to him as a native wild grape. To his knowledge wild grapes were all very small and he was indeed surprised to know that we had a native grape as big as the concord.

The melons this season are exceptionally well flavored. We had tasted some of Wilbur Mast's melons and thought them delicious. Harford Renick's melons are excellently flavored, too. You won't go wrong on your melon purchases this year.

Vangie Campbell, chairman of the Pumpkin Show Flower show, is not sure that the exhibit will be held at the Hill Implement store this year as formerly. How hospitable Hersch Hill has been all these years as the gals showed up with water spilling out of the arrangements!

Wherever it is held, Vangie will let the exhibitors know in plenty of time beforehand.

As we passed the Stuckey place on Route 56 the other day we saw Miss Louise Stuckey gathering glads in a basket. It was a pretty sight. Wenrich Stuckey

TALL SUNFLOWER — Robert Arledge, 532 E. Mound St., has a sunflower taller than the garage roof. Instead of having a single flower as most sunflower plants do, this one has multiple blooms — 22 in all. Arledge had saved the seed from the year before.

Two Perennials Do Okay in Dry Weather

Two perennials that came through the hot dry summer in good condition are the old fashioned tansy and artemesia. They managed to live out the summer with flying banners. Tansy was at one time considered a medicinal herb. Now it is grown as an ornamental for its yellow button flowers and its ferny foliage. It is an immoderate spreader and must be kept in bounds by uprooting in the spring months.

Tansy, which belongs to the composite family, is a valuable flower for drying. The yellow heads of button like flowers hold their color perfectly.

It also is valuable as a dried plant because its gray foliage holds its color.

Two varieties of artemesia responded well to the heat and drought. This plant, grown for the beauty of its gray foliage, had uninteresting infinitesimal yellow flowers on a spike. In fact one scarcely knows if it is blooming.

Miss Bernice Allen brought me a white cinnamon rose plant the other day. It is an old fashioned one that she found blooming in the woods. She believes that some roots were thrown over the fence where an old house used to be located. The roots grew.

Miss Allen leaves for Rome, Ga., this week where she teaches political science at Shorter College.

Mrs. Frank Moreno of the Dominican Republic, who has been visiting with her husband and their family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Natilda Moreno, told me about a gardener in Santa Domingo who specialized in hibiscus and had many varieties.

Santa Domingo sounded most intriguing to me. I like that siesta deal when everybody closes shop and naps after dinner.

Seems curious that a year so hot and dry could have had such a bountiful fruit harvest. In our neighborhood apple trees are loaded. The Eugene Gilder sleeves have early transplants that are out of this world.

The Jim Wolford pear tree has a fine crop of sweet small pears — I think they are known as sugar pears.

CHENILLE PLANT—The chenille plant at the Milton Mansons across from the Fairgrounds has people stopping all the time to ask its name. Mrs. Manson poses here with the plant which has long ropes of red that sometimes droop all the way to the ground. It is also called Love-Lies-Bleeding. The seed was procured from Mrs. Manson's sister, Mrs. Grace Leist, E. Union St. The plant is a curiosity. Milton Manson has staked them and has watered them regularly. According to Mrs. Manson, they have used about "a million dollars worth of water" this summer. Mr. Manson, just home from the hospital, sees to it that somebody gives the plants care while he recuperates.

Mrs. Kinser Great Grandma, And Gardener of Excellence

As colorful a garden as can be imagined is that of Mrs. Charles Kinser of Amanda.

Her home is located on Route 22 across from the furniture store. Passersby blink with unbelieving pleasure when they see the green lawn and the bright flowers bordering the half moon drive in front of the house.

If you are wondering how there can be a garden so green and full of bloom in this dry area, Mrs. Kinser explains it in two simple words, "We water." And it is evident that they water faithfully.

Red salvias, pale yellow dwarf marigolds and petunias that match the salvias along with blooming cannas are responsible for the bright color that one cannot miss as he passes.

THE KINSER lot has a narrow border of shrubs and perennials around three sides of it. Here one finds all colors including pastels and whites.

Within the half moon, two red Japanese maples have been planted. Flanking the house are two fine specimens of blue spruce. In back providing shade are young maples of considerable size.

Mrs. Kinser has five pink dogwoods and several magnolias, including a rather rare white species. One of the magnolias had bloomed persistently since spring.

And speaking of autumn the Kinser wisteria which climbs over an ornamental frame was in full bloom for a second time just two weeks ago. This has not happened before.

Mrs. Kinser, who was 67 the day I visited her garden, does all the work herself. Her husband helps with deals like mixing the cement when Mrs. Kinser decides she wants a fish pond. But she considers the gardening her chore and one she loves.

When we asked Mrs. Kinser how much time it took she refused to answer. She says she's just outdoors weeding or watering or transplanting a good bit of the time.

THIS BLUE-EYED alert gardener started with two young trees. From cuttings that she had rooted in the seven years they have lived in their present location, she has a dozen or more sturdy sizeable evergreens which are in her front planters.

Against the white modern house are tall red salvias. These match in color the salvias that border the driveway, but are higher.

In the perennial border plants, which bloom in season, are peonies, iris, daylilies, phlox, Canterbury bells, liatris, butterfly weed, shasta daisy,

Included in the shrub collection are lilacs, snowballs, butterfly bush, azaleas, Japanese quince — just about all the well known shrubs.

Besides the ornamentals, this energetic gardener has a fine vegetable garden. She freezes her surplus for winter. In this portion of the yard are rows of string beans, beautiful cabbages, carrots, tomatoes, four rows of strawberries and a row of raspberries.

Mrs. Kinser declared she hated weeds as she yanked out one lone volunteer that had somehow escaped her notice. And it was most evident that she meant what she said. A weed stands little or no chance in this smartly groomed garden.

MRS. KINSER'S blue eyes twinkled when she said, "I don't pay any attention to the rules. I just plant anything at any time and it grows."

She has a little sycamore tree which she found one day by the creek and her husband warned her it would not grow if she tried to transplant it. It's growing alright!

She has excellent luck rooting rose cuttings. Incidentally, she has elegant roses. These are planted to the back of her house and one bordered by white creeping phlox which blooms in spring. She has only sprayed once this summer. She does not have too much trouble with insects and only takes mea-

Annuals Have Their Place In Gardens

Let's not under estimate annuals.

Many gardeners of long standing declare they aim some day to convert all their garden space to perennials.

It is true, annuals have to be replaced each year. And that's a nuisance. Yet on the other hand there are few perennials that do not have to be divided at least every three years.

Annuals give six to eight weeks of bloom. And they give this splash of color when perennials in general are at a standstill, late July through August.

PERENNIALS spend their bloom in many cases within a period of two weeks. I can recall seasons when we were unfortunate to have hot winds. The plants which I had waited for all year to blossom were gone in a few days.

So it takes a lot of space to have a strictly perennial garden
and great horticultural know-
how. One of the blessings that perennials can shower upon us is pleasing foliage. The foliage of Baptisia for instance is a summer long delight.

Actually there's no royal road
to gardening. It's never ending work. So let's acknowledge that annuals, too, have their place in a garden. We may as well be realistic.

Try Planting Biennials In September

Try planting biennial seeds in early September.

Biennials planted now will winter over and bloom next year. Actually it is better to plant such seeds in early summer. But this year few would have withstood the heat and drought.

Plant in a cold frame now,
keep the soil from drying out as long as possible.

Pansies, English daisies,
hollyhocks, canterbury bells,
foxgloves, gilia, sweet Williams and sweet rocket are all perfectly hardy.

If things to well you will have plants ready to move to permanent places next spring.

Biennials are too seldom grown from seed. Once established they often self sow and prove to be a splendid addition to the garden.

Labor Backs Johnson Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has organized labor's endorsement in his bid for a first elective term. But a question remains about how faithfully 12 million rank and file members will follow the union leaders.

The General Board of the AFL-CIO voted unanimously to endorse Johnson for president and then trooped to the White House to give the chief executive the welcome
news.

Johnson thanked the leaders
for the endorsement, saying he will "carry it proudly during the campaign" and will "remember it fondly in January as we begin four more exciting years of progress."

The President said current prosperity is the result of the tested policies and not an accident or just good luck.

"It is the result of hard work and cooperation of business and labor," he said. "It is the result of the unmatched vitality of our free enterprise system — the envy of the world."

"I predict, if we continue on our course, the growth of the next four years will be the greatest in all our history. And every person in this country will benefit from expanding prosperity."

Unmentioned in these statements was the issue of the white backlash among union members who may be aroused by the prospect that Negro progress
under the equal employment provisions of the Civil Rights Act sponsored by Johnson might threaten their jobs.

AFL-CIO President George
Meany told newsmen union members would vote on the basis of their own convictions and not all would support the endorsement, but he discounted
any backlash effect.

er, who voted against the bill,

Japanese schools.

Attending the meeting were three members of the Picka-
way County Garden Club,
Mrs. Oscar Root, Mrs. Emmitt
Barnhart and Mrs. Kenny
Hannan.

Mrs. Nichols said that there were many schools of Japanese arranging. After studying under a certain master for so many years, a student may start his own school with his own rules
of arranging.

Mrs. Nichols had just returned from Japan where she purchased a collection of rare old and modern containers. These she had on display.

MRS. NICHOLS made one arrangement in a container belonging to Mrs. Hannan. She said it was modern and would lend itself beautifully to many Japanese schools. Mrs. Hannan
had purchased it in Hawaii.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The
top candidates in the 1964 political campaign which gets rolling
by next week are in some ways
a study in extreme contrasts.

The two top Democratic candidates — President Johnson and his vice presidential running-mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota — both panted for the presidency.

Both tried for it in 1960 but were squeezed out by John F.
Kennedy.

The two top Republican candidates—Sen. Barry Goldwater
of Arizona, trying for the presidency, and his vice presidential partner, Rep. William E. Miller of New York —talked of no ambition for the top jobs at all.

Until January 1964, Goldwater insisted he was not seeking the presidency and only wanted re-election to the Senate.

Miller, in Congress since 1951,
had announced some time before the Republicans in July tapped him for the No. 2 place
on their ticket that he was not even going to run for re-election
to the House this year.

There is another deep difference between the two pairs, a difference something like that between storekeepers and trav-

Annuals Have Their Place In Gardens

Let's not under estimate annuals.

Many gardeners of long standing declare they aim
some day to convert all their garden space to perennials.

It is true, annuals have to be replaced each year. And that's a nuisance. Yet on the other hand
there are few perennials that do not have to be divided at least every three years.

Annuals give six to eight weeks of bloom. And they give
this splash of color when perennials in general are at a stand-
still, late July through August.

PERENNIALS spend their bloom in many cases within a period of two weeks. I can recall seasons when we were unfortunate to have hot winds. The plants which I had waited for all year to blossom were gone in a few days.

So it takes a lot of space to have a strictly perennial garden
and great horticultural know-
how. One of the blessings that perennials can shower upon us is pleasing foliage. The foliage of Baptisia for instance is a summer long delight.

Actually there's no royal road
to gardening. It's never ending work. So let's acknowledge that annuals, too, have their place in a garden. We may as well be realistic.

Try Planting Biennials In September

Try planting biennial seeds in early September.

Biennials planted now will winter over and bloom next year. Actually it is better to plant such seeds in early summer. But this year few would have withstood the heat and drought.

Plant in a cold frame now,
keep the soil from drying out as long as possible.

Pansies, English daisies,
hollyhocks, canterbury bells,
foxgloves, glia, sweet Williams and sweet rocket are
all perfectly hardy.

If things to well you will have plants ready to move to permanent places next spring.

Biennials are too seldom grown from seed. Once established they often self sow and prove to be a splendid addition to the garden.

Labor Backs Johnson Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has organized labor's endorsement in his bid for a first elective term. But a question remains about how faithfully 12 million rank and file members will follow the union leaders.

The General Board of the AFL-CIO voted unanimously to endorse Johnson for president and then trooped to
the White House to give the chief executive the welcome
news.

Johnson thanked the leaders
for the endorsement, saying he will "carry it proudly during the campaign" and will "remember
it fondly in January as we begin four more exciting years of progress."

The President said current prosperity is the result of the tested policies and not an accident or just good luck.

"It is the result of hard work
and cooperation of business and labor," he said. "It is the result of the unmatched vitality of our free enterprise system — the
envy of the world."

"I predict, if we continue on
our course, the growth of the next four years will be the greatest in all our history. And every person in this country will benefit from expanding prosperity."

Unmentioned in these statements was the issue of the white backlash among union members
who may be aroused by the prospect that Negro progress
under the equal employment
provisions of the Civil Rights Act sponsored by Johnson might threaten their jobs.

AFL-CIO President George
Meany told newsmen union
members would vote on the basis of their own convictions and
not all would support the endorsement, but he discounted
any backlash effect.

GOP nominee Barry Goldwater, who voted against the bill, called the employment section unconstitutional.

Attending the meeting were three members of the Picka-
way County Garden Club,
Mrs. Oscar Root, Mrs. Emmitt
Barnhart and Mrs. Kenny
Hannan.

Mrs. Nichols said that there were many schools of Japanese arranging. After studying under a certain master for so many years, a student may start his own school with his own rules
of arranging.

Mrs. Nichols had just returned from Japan where she purchased a collection of rare old
and modern containers. These
she had on display.

MRS. NICHOLS made one arrangement in a container belonging to Mrs. Hannan. She said it was modern and would lend itself beautifully to many Japanese schools. Mrs. Hannan
had purchased it in Hawaii.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The
top candidates in the 1964 political campaign which gets rolling
by next week are in some ways
a study in extreme contrasts.

dates — President Johnson
and his vice presidential running-mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota — both
panted for the presidency.

Both tried for it in 1960 but
were squeezed out by John F.
Kennedy.

The two top Republican candidates—Sen. Barry Goldwater
of Arizona, trying for the presidency, and his vice presidential
partner, Rep. William E. Miller
of New York —talked of no ambition for the top jobs at all.

Until January 1964, Goldwater
insisted he was not seeking the presidency and only wanted re-election to the Senate.

Miller, in Congress since 1951,
had announced some time before the Republicans in July
tapped him for the No. 2 place
on their ticket that he was not even going to run for re-election
to the House this year.

There is another deep difference between the two pairs, a difference something like that between storekeepers and traveling salesmen.

In 1959, Goldwater, who had then been in the Senate six

Soviet Auto Selling Better In Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — The electric sign in front of a Copenhagen auto dealer's showroom proclaims: "Plymouth...Valiant...Moskvitch."

Nordisk Diesel, the importers, estimate that more than 1,500 Moskvitches and Volkas have gone onto Danish roads since imports started in 1961.

Sven Heitmann is the most successful of 10 Copenhagen showrooms with Russian cars. He sold more than 150 last year, and says sales are going up.

"Most of the Soviet cars are bought by people who heard the cars recommended by other people," he says.

Few other family cars of this type can be bought at similar prices. American cars are much more expensive many being in the $5,000-7,000 range. About 1,000 U.S. passenger cars are imported every year.

Dealers believe that more Soviet cars would be sold in this country if the body designs were more up to date. As of now they seem fashioned after older models of the West German Opel.

More important is a political barrier.

"Businessmen especially hesitate to be seen driving a Communist car," says Heitmann.

What attracts buyers apparently is low price and solidity. The cars are built for bad Russian roads and the Soviet makers say the steel bodies are designed to withstand below-zero speak favorably of the body steel.

23 Traffic Deaths Seen For Weekend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Safety predicted today that 23 persons will die in traffic on Ohio's highways over the long Labor Day weekend.

Officials issued a plea for co-operation in keeping accidents at a minimum. Radar and aircraft are to be used in areas where the accident rate is high, they said.

Col. Anson B. Cook, Ohio Highway Patrol superintendent, said the patrol will stop violators and no leniency will be shown hazardous drivers.

The patrol aircraft will concentrate on the state's interstate system directing help to trouble spots. Helping the patrol will be its auxiliary force of 3,000 men.

Citing the 1963 labor day weekend when 19 persons were killed in traffic accidents, Col. Cook said the big killers were speed and right-of-way violation. All of the fatal accidents could have been avoided, he said.

GI vs. German: Gripes Develop

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Pick a young soldier from among the 250,000 U.S. troops stationed in Germany and ask what he thinks of Germans. He may reply that they are rude and loud, drive their cars too fast and try to cheat Americans out of their last penny.

A German civilian's assessment of a GI will tend to be equally uncomplimentary.

Officially this comes under the heading of German-American relations and officially there is no problem. The policies of both countries call for friendly contact between civilians and GIs.

Usually the GI and the German come in contact only with the other's worst side. Add language difficulties and differences in custom and you end up with a problem.

A soldier recently wrote a long letter to an American newspaper complaining about German rudeness and disrespect toward GIs. He said:

"When I have a guest in my house I try to treat him with a certain consideration — as I expect him to treat me — but I'll be damned if it can be all one-sided."

On the same day, a German newspaper columnist enumerated fruitless attempts by one resident to get introduced to an American military family with whom he could meet socially. "Why doesn't the guy just walk up to a serviceman on the street and ask him to his home for supper?" asked a GI when shown the article.

2 Ohioans Selected To Assist Ag Census

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Ohioans have been named agriculture field assistant in 44 Ohio counties for the 1964 agriculture census, the Bureau of the Census of the Department of Commerce announced today.

They are John W. Griffin of Miamisburg and Moses C. Dickey of Rt. 5, Napoleon.

They will supervise teams of census crew leaders and enumerators during the census in November and early December. They will work under the direction of the Census Bureau's Detroit regional office.

South Lebanon Pair Accused as Rustlers

BEATTYVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two men who identified themselves as Jerry Tony, 28, and Junior Bryant, 17, of South Lebanon, Ohio, were being held today on cattle rustling charges filed in Warren County, Ohio. The pair was arrested Tuesday.

"What? Without an introduction?" countered a German. As a result of the column the German was invited to an American social function.

Most soldiers and dependents live in a world of their own. When the Army first marched into the war-shattered country, it brought everything it needed for daily survival. U.S. living areas were surrounded by barbed wire and official policy forbade fraternization.

Most of the living quarters are still around. The barbed wire is gone but a self-sufficient American community remains separate from the German one.

Theoretically, it is possible for a GI to remain within this American community during his entire tour of duty here. While the American facilities prevent overcrowding of German areas they are not conducive to mixing with the population.

How then do they make contacts?

There's always the young bachelor who seeks amusement off the base. Often he'll head for a tavern where the barmen and B-girls are ready for him.

Since draftees range in age from 18 to 23, the young man is probably ill-equipped to cope with a smoothly running clip joint. That a German would get clipped here too is a small consolation.

Even worse off is the married soldier who is not eligible to house his family in government quarters. If he brings them overseas, he has to find a place to live in German areas.

He runs into a seller's market. Furnished places with short-term leases are scarce in Europe. Landlords charge what the traffic will bear.

The accommodation the GI gets probably is inferior to what he had at home but he pays more for it. He finds little consolation in the fact that the situation near Army bases within the United States is similar.

There are exceptions. Some soldiers met Germans with whom they become good friends. Army officials say the longer a GI stays the more he gets used to the foreign country.

Johnson OKs New Bill To Aid Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed the $1,131,800,000 bill to continue and expand various housing programs and said it would benefit all America.

Dozens of members of Congress crowded into the Cabinet Room for the ceremony.

Johnson said there was a commitment to assure every American an opportunity to live in a decent home and a safe and decent neighborhood.

He called the legislation "a milestone to assure that commitment."

The total in the bill was nearly $700 million below the $1,824,000,000 Johnson recommended. The bill omitted his proposals for aid in building satellite communities in metropolitan areas.

Largest item in the bill was $725 million for urban renewal. It also authorizes 37,500 new public-housing units.

The measure raises to $30,000 from $25,000 the present mortgage payment insurance limit on one-family homes by the Federal Housing Administration.

It establishes a new $50-million program to induce property owners to rehabilitate slum properties and so avoid need for larger federal renewal projects.

Broader lending authority would be granted to both national banks and savings and loan associations.

Soviet Auto Selling Better In Denmark

Depending on his pocketbook, the Dane can take his choice of these and many other makes.

Nordisk Diesel, the importers, estimate that more than 1,500 Moskvitches and Volgas have gone onto Danish roads since imports started in 1961.

Sven Heitmann is the most successful of 10 Copenhagen showrooms with Russian cars. He sold more than 150 last year, and says sales are going up.

"Most of the Soviet cars are bought by people who heard the cars recommended by other people," he says.

Danish sales taxes are high, bringing the price of a Moskvitch to about $1,700. The Volga de luxe sells about $2,800. A Volkswagen is around $2,200.

The Moskvitch can squeeze in four persons while the Volga has room for five.

Few other family cars of this type can be bought at similar prices. American cars are much more expensive many being in the $5,000-7,000 range. About 1,000 U.S. passenger cars are imported every year.

Dealers believe that more Soviet cars would be sold in this country if the body designs were more up to date. As of now they seem fashioned after older models of the West German Opel.

More important is a political barrier.

"Businessmen especially hesitate to be seen driving a Communist car," says Heitmann.

What attracts buyers apparently is low price and solidity. The cars are built for bad Russian roads and the Soviet makers say the steel bodies are designed to withstand below-zero speak favorably of the body steel.

GI vs. German: Gripes Develop

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Pick a young soldier from among the 250,000 U.S. troops stationed in Germany and ask what he thinks of Germans. He may reply that they are rude and loud, drive their cars too fast and try to cheat Americans out of their last penny.

Speedy Scot Aiming At 2 More Wins

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y.
(AP) — Speedy Scot, needing a victory in each of the two remaining races of the Harness Tracks of America Trot series to qualify for the finals, takes on seven rivals Friday night in the $10,000 stop at Saratoga Raceway.

The 4-year-old trotters will clash again at Freehold Raceway Sept. 12 before the leaders come together in the $50,000 finale at Roosevelt Raceway Sept. 19.

Army's football team will have game captains next fall rather than have one leader for the season.

Fyffe Begins Practice at Syracuse U.

Duke Fyffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dessel Fyffe, 405 Ruth Ave., begins freshman football practice today at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

Fyffe, who starred at Circleville High School as a fullback and linebacker, and was twice named to the All-South Central Ohio League team, received a full athletic scholarship at Syracuse.

His address is Booth Hall, Room 114, Box 6, 505 Comstock Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

Logan Elm Scores 3 Times in Drill

Logan Elm could score only three times while The Plains of Mt. Sterling crossed the goal line five times in a controlled scrimmage on the Braves' field last night.

Keith Merrin, LE coach, reported there was a lot of work ahead of his charges before the opening game with Laurel-ville Sept. 11.

When Al Besslink sent his second shot on the final hole of the ICO skidding across the green, PGA tournament supervisor Joe Black gave him a free lift. But Bessie skidded his third shot past the hole and got a bogey 5.

Tigers Edged In 2-Session Drill Here

The Circleville High School football team came out second best two times yesterday in a full day scrimmage with Ga-hanna Lincoln.

Coached by George Trout-man, a former Circleville CHS griddler who later starred at Capital University, the Gahan-na footballers were hosted by local players.

Following the morning workout Tigers teamed up with the visitors to eat dinner.

And then it was back to the athletic field for another round.

FOR Circleville, nothing seemed to work. No statistics were kept by the Red and Black coaching staff. But there was little doubt to anyone watching the scrimmage that the bulk of the yardage was accumulated by the visiting gridders.

The morning workout saw the Tigers score a single touchdown, on a long pass from Hodgie Dade to Mansil Hurlbut. Gahan-na managed two TDs.

In the afternoon, the Tigers were shut out when a long touchdown gallop by Dade was nullified by a clipping penalty. Gahan-na scored three times.

Norwegian Sets Javelin Record

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A 20-year-old Norwegian dental student has shattered the 300-foot javelin throw barrier with a fantastic heave more than 15 feet better than the listed world record.

Terje Pedersen made his spectacular throw of 300 feet, 11 1/2 inches in an international meet between Norway and Czechoslovakia at Bislet Stadium Wednesday. The 209-pound youngster's performance easily topped the listed world mark of 285-7 set by Carlo Lievore of Italy in 1961.

CHS Grid Tickets Will Go on Sale

The Circleville High School
Stooge Club will sell season football tickets 10 a. m. to 2
p. m. Saturday at the corner of Court and Main Sts., it was announced today by Paul Langland adviser.

The ticket sale is an annual project of the Stooge Club. The reserved season ducats are $6.
The Tiger schedule lists five home games.

Ayres' Driver Is Amazed At Hambo Winner's Speed

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) —
"Fastest trotter I've ever seen.
He is even faster than I thought he was. And he could have gone even faster in the first heat."

That is how 44-year-old John Simpson Sr., who has been driving and training harness horses for 25 years, sums up Ayres.

Ayres, the little hot-rod son of the great Star's Pride, won the 39th Hambletonian in successive heats on the well-manicured clay mile oval of the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds Wednesday.

He was an official even-money favorite in the betless race and the railbirds had him pegged perfectly as the overwhelming choice in the field of nine 3-year-old trotting colts.

A television cable stretched above the starting line cast its shadow on the track and the highly strong Ayres shied at it as the first heat opened.

"He took two or three bad steps but didn't go completely off stride," said Simpson.

Recovering quickly, Ayres peeled off like a dragster and soon was moving into good position as Sesebo, Scribe Rodney and Rain Water broke, to help scatter the field.

Ayres, owned by Mrs. Charlotte N. Sheppard of Hanover,

Pa., wheeled out of fourth place at the three-quarter pole, took the lead near mid-stretch and won by one length over Big John and 32-year-old Eddie Wheeler.

The time was a sensational 1:56 4-5, erasing the Hambletonian record of 1:57 3-5 set by Floriss last year and matching the all-time competitive record mile by a trotter of any age.

The latter mark was set by Speedy Scot at Lexington last fall.

Ayres again streaked from fourth at the three-quarter post into the lead in the stretch of the second heat, again beating Big John, by one-half length.
The time was 1:58 1-5.

The combined heat times of 3:55 is the second fastest in competitive trotting history and only two-fifths of a second off the record of 3:54 3-5 hoisted by Speedy Scot in winning the Kentucky Futurity at Lexington last fall.

Speedy Scot captured trotting's triple crown in 1963 with victories in the Yonkers Futurity, the Hambletonian and the Kentucky Futurity.

Ayres, who has won nine of 10 starts this year, now has taken the first two jewels in the crown and can win it with a victory at Lexington Oct. 9. Meanwhile, he will be shipped back to Roosevelt Raceway in New York.

Ayres, who in 1963 set a world record for 2-year-old trotters on a half-mile track of 2:00 1-5 in the Ohio Standard Bred Futurity, collected $56,487 for his Hambletonian triumph, boosting his 1964 earnings to $155,336.

Tractor Pull Slated Here For Weekend

The annual Labor Day weekend Tractor Pull, sponsored by the Central Ohio Tractor Pulling Club, will be conducted Sunday and Monday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The speed pull events are slated for Sunday with the tug pull scheduled Monday. Starting time both days is 9 a. m.

There will be first and second place trophies in each class. Money awards are slated for first through fourth places.

The tractor pullers will compete in front of the grandstand on the race track.

Both the Sunday and Monday pulls will feature competition in weight classes of 4,000, 6,000, 8, 9,000 and 10,000 pounds.

Tigers Edged In 2-Session Drill Here

The Circleville High School football team came out second best two times yesterday in a full day scrimmage with Gahanna Lincoln.

Coached by George Troutman, a former Circleville CHS griddier who later starred at Capital University, the Gahanna footballers were hosted by local players.

Following the morning work-out Tigers teamed up with the visitors to eat dinner.

And then it was back to the athletic field for another round.

FOR Circleville, nothing seemed to work. No statistics were kept by the Red and Black coaching staff. But there was little doubt to anyone watching the scrimmage that the bulk of the yardage was accumulated by the visiting gridders.

The morning workout saw the Tigers score a single touchdown, on a long pass from Hodgie Dade to Mansil Hurlbut. Gahanna managed two TDs.

In the afternoon, the Tigers were shutout when a long touch-down gallop by Dade was nullified by a clipping penalty. Gahanna scored three times.

37 Public Sale PUBLIC SALE

I, the undersigned, will offer for sale at public auction, at my residence, located at 601 N. Court St., Circleville, O.

Saturday September 5, 1964
Starting at 10:30 A. M. the following to wit:

23 Beauties Vie for Ohio Fair Queen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-three hopefuls take the stage tonight at the 11th Ohio State Fair to compete in the colorful "Queen of Queens" pageant for the title of "Miss Ohio State Fair of 1965."

The girls are those who have won queen titles in various divisions and agencies during the current fair. They will contend for the honor of succeeding the current "Miss Ohio State Fair," Leone Vaughan of Columbus.

The official judges of the contest are Diane Courtwright, recently crowned "Miss Ohio" who will compete in the Miss America contest this month; Mrs. James A. Rhodes, Ohio's first lady; Mrs. Roy Kottman, wife of the dean of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture and Home Economics; Broadway columnist Earl Wilson, and Larry Snyder, Ohio State varsity track coach.

Also on tap today was the $21,600 Governor's Cup, the climax of the fair's three-day harness racing program. Among the 3-year-old trotters entered for the race was Argo Kid, owned by the Ohio Valley Stables of Hamilton, who has won 13 of his 23 starts this year including the $3,000 Scarlet and Gray Cup trot at Scioto Downs last Saturday night.

Fair officials were still concerned about the exposition's attendance. Wednesday was the fourth straight day the crowds failed to meet the attendance recorded on the similar day last year.

As of 9 o'clock Wednesday night, total attendance for the day was 44,514. A crowd of 46,040 passed through the gates on the same day of the 1963 fair.

Total attendance for the first six days of the fair was 345,841, compared to the six-day attendance of 412,070 last year.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has been concerned all week about the fair's attendance. Wednesday night he called members of his cabinet and 200 exhibitors to a meeting to discuss improvements for future state fairs.

He asked the exhibitors to send him recommendations by the end of the week. H said that in the past "nobody thought about the fair until July and then it was too late."

Rhodes said he would appoint committees to implement the exhibitors' suggestions and he named Highway Safety Director Warren Nelson and Natural Resources Director Fred Morr to head a committee for dressing up the center field of the race track.

New Federal Minimum Pay Law in Effect

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new federal minimum wage of $1.15 per hour goes into effect today, covering some 3.6 million workers who were brought under federal labor standards in 1961.

But the Labor Department estimates the law will bring pay raises to only about half a million of these. The others are already making at least $1.15.

The Labor Department figures the pay raises for about 565,000 workers making less than that will increase their annual income by a total of about $115 million — an average of about $200.

The hourly increase from $1 primarily affects workers in retail, service and construction trades.

Next year, they will step up to the $1.25 minimum that already covers some 25 million American workers.

The law taking effect today, a 1961 amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act, also requires time and one-half pay for overtime beyond 42 hours a week, instead of 44 hours.

Scioto County Is Advised To Create Own New Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scioto County, Ohio, needs to create 600 new jobs annually if it is to counteract its lagging economy, the Area Redevelopment Administration said today.

Muny Court Docket Lists 6 Motorists

The Circleville Municipal Court docket today listed two motorists charged with failure to yield the right of way and four who were charged with speeding.

Waiving court hearings and paying $15 fines for failure to yield were Lowell D. Williams, 18, Route 2, and Egidio W. Centofanti, 54, Ashville. Cited for speeding were:

Benjamin Miller, 28, Portsmouth; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 64 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Raymond K. Landis Jr., 33, Mansfield; $19 bond forfeiture for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

William E. Lee, Chillicothe; $29 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Paul T. Hartman Jr., 28, Melbourne Branch, Fla.; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Davis Demons Due At Corn Festival

The Davis Demons Drum Corps is slated to perform tonight at the Millersport Sweet Corn Festival in Millersport.

The Corps, billed as the first musical formation in the parade, will be under the direction of Branson Hawks, 343 E. Franklin St.

Hawks has taken over leadership of the organization while John Davis is attending the University of Michigan.

Firemen Summoned

The Circleville Fire Department was called to 208 W. High St., at 3:25 p. m. yesterday when a building owned by Paul Smith was ignited by a spark from a trash barrel. Firemen reported damage was slight.

OHIO CASH GRAIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Dept. of Agri. cash grain prices: No 2 red wheat mostly unchanged, 1.30-1.33; No 2 yellow corn 1.17-1.23 per bu, mostly 1.17-1.19; or 67-76 per 100 lbs, mostly 1.68-1.70; No. 2 oats 55-68, mostly 60-65; No. 1 soybeans 2.33-2.51, mostly 2.46-2.50.

News Briefs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Things began to hum at San Francisco International Airport when a mail sack started buzzing.

Some onlookers thought the sack was vibrating too.

The FBI, sheriff's officers and an Army disposal unit carried the sack from a cargo plane to an open field.

Inside they discovered a battery-operated shoe buffer going at spit-polish pace.

Quieted, the device resumed its trip to an apparently weary Marine stationed overseas.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman will speak next Tuesday at the opening of the Citizens for Johnson drive in Cincinnati and Hamilton County.

Harriman is to speak at a luncheon in the Sheraton-Gibson hotel on "Presidential Responsibility in the Nuclear Age."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate House conferees have agreed on an appropriation bill to finance activities of the Welfare and Labor departments during the fiscal year that started June 30.

The approximately $7-billion money bill was cleared Wednesday with House action expected later in the week.

The biggest item is $6.4 billion for the Welfare Department, including $2,780,000,000 for grants to the states for public assistance.

Du Pont Transfers Sprague to Film Plant in Carolina

William P. Sprague, superintendent of Du Pont's new "Teflon" FEP and H-Film installation here, has been transferred to the company's "Mylar" plant in Florence, S. C. The change was effective Monday.

Sprague has been with Du Pont since 1942 when he started as an engineer in research in the Rayon Department at Buffalo, N. Y. In 1947 he moved to the post of research engineer in the cellophane division.

His next assignment was to the company's general headquarters at Wilmington, Del., where he served as personnel supervisor in the technical division.

In 1949 Sprague was named a field engineer in the works engineering section in the film department at Clinton, Ia. From 1951-59 he held various supervisory positions at the Clinton installation.

His assignment to Circleville in 1959 listed him as works engineer for the local "Mylar" plant. In December of 1962 he was named plant superintendent of the new installations.

WILLIAM P. SPRAGUE

Sprague and his wife, Melba, live at 815 Dartmouth Drive. They have two sons, Douglas L. and James R.

The son of Will L. Sprague, Independence, Kan., the veteran Du Pont employee attended Coffeyville Jr. College in Kansas and was graduated from Oklahoma A&M with a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering. Prior to his affiliation with Du Pont, he gained engineering experience with several steel firms and oil refineries.

Motor Vehicle Chief Hints Resignation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Registrar Dave Mainwaring of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles said today he is "considering" a job offer from the Ohio Auto Dealers' Association and will make up his mind about the post within a week.

Mainwaring, 44, has been registrar since early 1963. He is a former Alliance mayor. His present salary is $12,000 a year.

Sprague, active in Boy Scouting here, served as institutional representative for Troop 205 and activities chairman for Cub Pack 205. He also devoted his time as a financial officer in the Presbyterian Church.

His hobbies are power boats and the raising of ponies.

King Henry I of England (1068-1135) established the length of a yard as the distance between the tip of his nose and the end of his thumb.

Scioto County Is Advised To Create Own New Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scioto County, Ohio, needs to create 600 new jobs annually if it is to counteract its lagging economy, the Area Redevelopment Administration said today.

And, the ARA said, the drive in the county to bring in new industry has been overemphasized, and the soundest approach to strengthen the economy is a "strong and imaginative program to expand existing firms and develop new home-grown industries."

These were conclusions of a recent field survey of economic conditions in Scioto County conducted by the ARA designed to help the area build new jobs and increase the pace of economic development.

The ARA report said Scioto County exhibits "the typical characteristics of a lagging economy — declining population, high unemployment, outmigration of the young."

The Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security suggests the need for creating 600 new jobs annually between now and 1970 to counter these trends, the report said.

The ARA said Scioto County was the first ARA - designated county in Ohio to complete an over-all economic program.

"Since August 1961 the Scioto County-Portsmouth Area Redevelopment Committee has been active in carrying out a redevelopment program," the ARA said.

"It has obtained a sewer project for Portsmouth under the Accelerated Public Works program and under the Manpower Development and Training Act, and has been instrumental in obtaining several ARA-financed technical assistance studies of the area.

"However, these steps have not been enough to reverse the downturn in opportunities . . . The same unity of purpose and community participation that made these achievements possible should now be focused on action for continued economic and community growth."

Young Gridder Injures His Arm

Thomas A. Wagner, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wagner, 410 Sunnyview Drive, received emergency aid in Berger Hospital yesterday after he injured his right arm while playing football at a neighbor's home.

Also treated was Robert L. Wills, 48, of 420 Watt St., who suffered abrasions to his left leg after being struck by an air hose at work.
